

WEATHER—Partly cloudy and continued warm tonight and Tuesday.
Maximum temperature, today, 80 at 3 p. m. Minimum, 53, at 4 a. m.

The Lima News

AND TIMES-DEMOCRAT

HOME EDITION

MORE NEWS EVERY DAY IN THE LIMA NEWS—READ IT

THIRTY-SIXTH YEAR

LIMA, OHIO, MONDAY, JULY 23, 1921

PRICE THREE CENTS

FATE OF MAN ACCUSED OF CHILD MURDER RESTS ON SPIDER'S WEB THICKNESS

Stepfather Held As Perpetrator Of Gruesome Crime

PROTESTS HIS INNOCENCE

Declares He Saw Body At Bottom Of Old Cistern

(By FLYOD CHALFANT.)

BEAVER, Pa.—(Special).—Did Fred I. Reno slay his five-year-old stepson, Lawrence Kerr, and then hide his body in an old, abandoned cistern not far from his home in W. Madison-st., Rochester, Pa.

This is a question the Beaver-co September Grand Jury will endeavor to solve. Solution of the mystery thru the intricate processes of an investigation that will even take into account the lasting qualities and transparency of a spider's web promises to develop into one of the most interesting and sensational cases that Beaver-co has had for years.

Kerr, now in jail and refused a writ of habeas corpus by Judge Frank E. Reader, declares he is not guilty. His wife, the mother of the boy, believes him and declares for a fair and impartial trial.

BOY DISAPPEARS FROM HOME.

Curly-faced Lawrence trotted away from the home of a neighbor, Mrs. Baird, on the afternoon of June 23, to do an errand for his mother.

Mrs. Baird said he left her home. He failed to reach home, and a search was started late in the afternoon.

For days it was feared the lad had been kidnapped. One story went that gypsies going thru the town the afternoon of the boy's disappearance had picked him up. Then on July 5, fifteen days after his disappearance, his body was found in an old, abandoned cistern at the rear of what is known as the Baldwin property, in W. Madison-st., Kerr, the stepfather, made the gruesome discovery.

With him and near at the time was his brother-in-law, Harrison S. Wilson, of East Liverpool.

From the moment it appeared that the boy could not have fallen thru the slight opening in the covering of the well murder was hinted. But police were at sea, never suspecting the stepfather, Coroner J. M. Jackson investigated. At an inquest searching investigation failed to disclose anything of consequence, and the verdict of the jury was merely "accidental death."

FRIENDS DISSATISFIED.

Friends of the little lad, among them Daniel Sweeney, an East Liverpool newspaperman, were not satisfied. Sweeney had called the boy his pal and had taken a great fancy to him. So he aided friends in securing the services of Detective J. J. Finerty, of East Liverpool and Youngstown, to probe the mystery.

Detective Finerty came to Rochester on July 6 and made observations. Next day he picked up the clue of the stepfather. He "sized-up" Kerr for several days, according to his own story, and observed a certain form of nervousness. "On July 11 I dressed up as a tramp and went to Conway yards, where Kerr was employed as a brakeman," declared Finerty when he was put on the stand before Justice of the Peace, Addison Courtney, in West Bridgewater, at the preliminary hearing. "I picked up an acquaintance with him, won his confidence. told Kerr I had killed a man in W. Virginia. I wanted to go West, and go forth."

It came out, according to the detective, that Kerr was frightened. Finerty said on the stand that Kerr confessed to becoming angered when the boy was not at home, of catching him in the dusk of evening in the hallway of the Kerr home and of choking him. Then, according to the detective, the body was thrust into the well, a stone covering being placed up that this might be accomplished.

LONG FAST BROKEN

Ohio Woman Attempts Suicide By Starvation

(By United Press.)

—The three weeks fast of wealthy Miss Mary Lill, 55 years old, was broken today when she was forcibly fed to prevent success of her suicide by starvation plan.

Miss Lill was induced to submit to feeding after physicians had forbidden her light nourishment. She said she felt stronger and physicians believe she will rapidly regain her health.

Neighbors discovered that the woman, living in luxury, had not eaten for three weeks when they investigated her failure to appear about the house for some time.

Miss Lill's attempt was caused by grief over the suicide of a cousin, Jacob H. Lill, who hanged himself three weeks ago, friends said.

STATE HOSPITAL COW MAKES GREAT RECORD

A pure bred registered Holstein cow at the Lima state hospital is reported to have made at the age of six years and three months, 534.4 pounds of milk and 23.84 pounds of butter fat in seven days.

The cow is kept for experimental purposes, under the direction of the Dairy Division of the State Agricultural college. The name of the cow is the Lima state hospital is reported to have made at the age of six years and three months, 534.4 pounds of milk and 23.84 pounds of butter fat in seven days.

Lawrence Kerr

OHIOAN MISSING, POLICE PUZZLED

Stuebenville Man Mysteriously Disappears From Home

STUEBENVILLE, O.—(By Associated Press.)—Searching parties who spent Sunday and all last night scouring the highways and adjacent ravines of Jefferson for trace of Harry Cummins, Jr., aged 33, local automobile dealer, who disappeared Saturday afternoon, while demonstrating a car for a stranger, returned to the city this morning without having picked up a single clue to the whereabouts of the missing man, his unknown companion, or the machine.

Police admit they are completely baffled, the disappearance being the most mysterious that has come to the attention of the authorities here in years.

Chief of Police Blaine Carter, who went to Wellsville, Ohio, seeking information regarding the stranger who claimed to be a barber of that place, phoned in this morning that four suspects had been picked up there.

The chief also reported that the barber's home had been located but that his wife had not seen him for a week.

When he left his garage here, Cummins, according to his father, Harry Cummins, Sr., intended to be gone only fifteen minutes to demonstrate the car.

OHIOAN, 107, DIES.

CINCINNATI.—Thomas Anderson, said to have been 107 years old, is dead here.

SHOT BY BANDITS.

HAMILTON.—Arthur R. Conner, 42, Columbus, was shot and fatally wounded by two bandits who held up an automobile near here.

HURT IN CRASH.

CLEVELAND.—Miss Gloria Celine, 17, was seriously injured when an airplane in which she was riding fell at a local aviation field.

DIES IN AUTO WRECK.

NEW PHILADELPHIA.—Charles E. Brooks, theatre owner, was killed when his automobile turned over, pinning him underneath.

FORCED TO WALL

New York and Philadelphia Brokerage Firm Fails

NEW YORK.—(By Associated Press.)—The failure of the firm of Chandler Brothers Co. was announced from the rostrum of the stock exchange today.

The firm is a member of both the New York and Philadelphia exchanges with offices in Philadelphia. Its notice to the New York exchange merely stated that it regretted its inability to meet its obligations. No hint was given of the liabilities.

The firm was organized in January, 1914.

RECEIVERS NAMED.

PHILADELPHIA.—Edwin G. Gilfill and Cornelius Haggert, Jr., today were appointed receivers for the firm of Chandler Brothers & Co., whose failure was announced on the New York stock exchange.

SAVED BY LEAP.

NEWARK, Ohio.—Daniel B. Shaw, 40, saved his own life and that of his six-year-old daughter, Aalia, yesterday when he leaped from a machine at an East Newark railroad crossing just as the automobile was struck by a Pennsylvania passenger train. Shaw had the girl clasped in his arms. The father and daughter suffered injuries.

AMERICAN WARSHIPS TO BATTLE WHISKEY FLEET OF WORLD RING

SMALL READY TO CALL TROOPS

Illinois Governor Prepared To Resist Arrest Tomorrow

BODYGUARD IS INCREASED

Plans Armed Action In Event Court Decides Against Him

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—(By United Press.)—Governor Len Small, anticipating a decision by Judge E. S. Smith, ordering arrest of the executive on charges of misuse of millions of dollars of state money, arranged today for armed resistance to the court's decree.

On return of the indicted governor from a trip to Chicago and his home at Kankakee over the week-end, his personal bodyguard was heavily increased. A dozen guards patrolled the vicinity of the governor's home, his office at the capitol and carefully protected him whenever he moved about.

The governor and his advisors today completed all arrangements for calling out state militia. A battalion of the second regiment is ready to move here at a moment's notice from Camp Logan to be on hand in case deputies attempt to arrest the governor.

PLANS OUTLINED.

The governor conferred with A. F. Lorenson and Captain J. L. Black, of the state militia, and with his attorneys when the plans for calling troops were outlined. Captain Lorenson rode from Kankakee to Springfield with the governor, discussing the program for armed resistance.

The second regiment is fully equipped and could be shifted to Springfield on eight hours' notice.

Judge Smith's decision is due tomorrow. A show of armed force on the streets of Springfield before the ruling is handed down, was considered probable and reports were current that the troops would be patrolling the streets of the capitol city tomorrow morning.

MARTIAL LAW LIKELY.

Martial law was expected to be declared as soon as an effort was made to arrest the governor.

Altho the judge's decision ordering service of the warrants was expected at the opening of court, it was expected that the showdown would not come for several days.

Sheriff Mosier will be given sufficient time by the court to arrest the executive.

The governor's two accused conspirators in the alleged scheme to milk the state treasury, were prepared to stand trial at any time today.

Lieutenant Governor Fred Sterling and Vernon Curtis, banker of Kankakee, who surrendered, were at liberty on $50,000 bail.

The intention of the executive that he is not liable to arrest and prosecution on any charges does not affect the standing of Curtis and Sterling.

4,000 LOCKED OUT

Cleveland Carpenters Laid Off As Strike Result

CLEVELAND.—(By Associated Press.)—Approximately 4,000 union carpenters were locked out by contractors here today as a result of the strike of forty members of the carpenters' union, because they were not allowed to put up metal trimmings on a building under construction, according to W. F. Hennessy, secretary of the Building Trades Employees association.

Union officials denied four thousand men were laid off, but declared that as soon as the open shop program, announced by the builders, was put into effect, it would mean a general tieup of the building industry in the city.

Contractors admit that if carpenters are employed under the open shop plan, building will cease.

Following the lockout, an employment bureau for carpenters, signing individual contracts with contractors, was opened at headquarters of the employers' association.

City Building Commissioner Sumner said that $35,000,000 in building work will be affected.

RATE CUT IS FILED

Supplemental Action Taken By The D. T. & I. Railroad

HIGHWAY HEAD TO MEET GOOD ROADS ADVOCATES

Representatives of the Harding Highway association will hold a conference with State Highway Commissioner Leon Herrick at Galion, Tuesday night. The meeting was called at the suggestion of Commissioner Herrick, Monday.

When seen in Columbus a week ago, Herrick assured representatives of the Allen-co Road council that he believed federal aid for Ohio roads will be forthcoming in August. Furthermore, he promised that if funds are obtained, he will take care of a portion of the route between Lima and Marion.

Representatives from Lima hope that the Galion meeting is called to announce that federal aid has been secured.

Joe Hartline and J. Kennard Johnson will represent Allen-co at the meeting.

LOSES TEETH IN LAUGHTER FIT

Fast Thought He Swallowed 'Em—Hurried To Hospital

Julian E. Fast, official of the Delphos Manufacturing company, former Delphos school head and well known in Masonic circles, was hurried from his home just west of Delphos, in Van Wert-co, to the City hospital here Saturday night, when it was thought he swallowed his false teeth, during a fit of laughter over the queer antics of a chicken in the yard at his country home.

Something was lodged in his throat, which resisted efforts to dislodge and Fast was certain that it was his false teeth. An X-ray examination made after reaching the hospital failed to disclose a foreign object of any kind and all fear of possible fatal results from the teeth being introduced into the stomach were dispelled Sunday morning when the plate was found at the Fast home, about 35 feet from where Fast was sitting when the Saturday evening incident occurred. It was a piece of gum that had lodged in his throat, it was later disclosed.

Seated in the yard, eating a sandwich, Fast was admiring his flock of chickens. One of the fowls jumped up and with its beak jerked the piece of sandwich from his hand. The persistency of the chicken induced a fit of laughter and Fast's teeth disappeared.

He was fully recovered Monday at City hospital, altho quite weak from the ordeal thru which he had passed and will return home Monday evening.

Claude Fast, former superintendent of the Ohio Electric and Harley Fast of the American Bank of this city, are sons of the Delphos man, who does not care to repeat his experience of Saturday night.

COUPLE SHOT TO DEATH IN HOME

Akron Wife Kills Husband And Self, Police Believe

AKRON.—(By Associated Press.)—Officers today are working on the murder and suicide theory of the deaths of Patrolman Paul C. Trotter and his wife, Bessie, yesterday.

Police at first worked on a double murder theory. Two roomers from upstairs, however, rushed down after hearing the shots in time to see Mrs. Trotter fall with the smoking revolver.

Jealousy is given as the motive. The couple had been married four years and had no children.

FUND IS DIVIDED

$1,863,900 Derived From Auto Licenses Distributed

COLUMBUS.—(By United Press.)—Funds totalling $1,863,900.26 derived from automobile licenses were being distributed today by Secretary of State Harry C. Smith, half of the total going into the state treasury and half to the counties of registration.

Cuyahoga-co receives the biggest share of the total, its check calling for $213,176.04.

Other counties receiving comfortable sums from the distribution include Stark $49,925 and Montgomery $14,326.

The distribution of automobile license funds today made the total distributed this year amount to $3,735,596, nearly as much as for the entire year of 1920.

BANKER'S FLIGHT PLANS REVEALED

Fiance of Spurgin's Daughter Tells of Financier's Getaway

FAMILY IS TAKEN WITH HIM

Believed On Way To Europe—Wireless Used In Search

CHICAGO.—(By United Press.)—The inside story of the flight of Warren C. Spurgin, president of the defunct Michigan-ave Trust Company, previous to the discovery of more than $1,000,000 shortage in the bank's accounts, which institution was closed Saturday, was revealed to the United Press today by the fiance of Spurgin's daughter.

Herman Byler, a dapper young chap employed by the American Discount Company, a concern which Spurgin headed along with his bank, gave the first clue as to the direction of the banker's flight.

Byler, who was engaged to Spurgin's attractive 21-year-old daughter Vivian, said he was called to the Spurgin home a week ago Saturday.

"The home was in confusion," Byler said. "Everyone was flying around packing trunks. I was asked to take Mrs. Spurgin's car to the garage and have it prepared for a long trip."

FAMILY INFORMED.

Byler said that Vivian told him the previous night her father had come home and made a clean breast of the entire affair. It was the first intimation that they had of the financial difficulties in which Spurgin had been embroiled for many months.

Immediately after making the confession, Spurgin started his flight. He had $50,000 in cash when he fled," Byler said.

Packing was completed Saturday and Sunday," Byler continued.

"The home was arranged for a long absence. Monday morning Mrs. Spurgin drew $200 from the bank—all the money she had—and she and Vivian started their flight."

Byler accompanied them as far as Gary, Ind., when he returned to Chicago. He heard from Vivian frequently during the week. She told how tired she and her mother were becoming of the constant driving over hot dusty roads, of being forced to skimp on meals because their finances were running low, of the high cost of hotel bills and gasoline.

WOMEN SEEK WORK.

Byler had two letters from Detroit where the automobile which Spurgin had driven, was located in a garage. Vivian said she and her mother were going to look for work. She told of staying at a rooming house but when the authorities went to the place, they found that the women had again fled.

Detectives were of the opinion that Vivian and her mother had crossed the Canadian line to join Spurgin and that the whole family might make a try for Europe. Wireless flashes were sent to all vessels to watch for the missing banker.

Another trail of Spurgin, which was followed, led to French Lick, Ind. A man answering Spurgin's description was seen at the famous Hoosier Watering place Saturday.

3 DIE IN WRECK

Interurban Car Crashes Into Auto Near Toledo

TOLEDO.—(By United Press.)—The crew of a doubleheader Lake Shore Electric interurban, which collided with an automobile, killing three people and seriously injuring four others, three miles east of here on Sunday night, will appear before Coroner Henzler here today.

Those killed were Mrs. Roy Meyer, 28, her son, Harold, 7, Geraldine Heuserman, 4, all of Toledo.

The injured are: Roy Meyer, husband of Mrs. Meyer, leg broken. Wilbur Seurman, driver of the machine, and his wife, and Lucille Meyer, 5, daughter of Meyer.

The accident happened on the Woodville-rd., near Vickers crossing.

SINKING FUND TRUSTEES MUST RAISE $202,485.32

Meeting of the sinking fund trustees scheduled to be held on Monday night is postponed because of the absence of Dr. William Roush, president of the board, from the city.

The board of trustees was to have passed on the budget for 1922, prepared by Auditor David L. Rupert, and amounts to $202,485.32. The trustees will be forced to raise that amount of money during 1922 to pay off bonds maturing during the year and meet interest on other outstanding securities.

The principal task facing the board is arranging to have money available to meet payments. The sinking fund has a balance sufficiently large to care for the budget requirement, but it is largely invested in other securities.

GIRL ATTEMPTS SUICIDE WHEN MAN BREAKS WORD

BALTIMORE.—She isn't pretty, but in spite of a retousse nose and a heavy sprinkling of freckles, Virginia Hicks is attractive, even tho her face is drawn with pain and the hope for death. She is hospitalized against recovery at the Maryland General Hospital here, having taken bichloride of mercury tablets. It was because of a man—a man who promised her a home and marriage, a man who didn't make good.

"It's because I'm lonely," she said. "Men look only for beauty. They're all alike. I never want to see one again. I want to die. The only man I want to see is God!" In spite of herself she is getting well. Virginia is only twenty. She is one of those girls who dream of a home and baby—and keep on dreaming, in their trustfulness. She will not tell the name of her betrayer.

Virginia's condition, when she entered the hospital, was critical. She has now passed that stage, and her speedy recovery is anticipated.

CLEVELAND CASE HEARD HERE

Appeals Court To Pass On Salary of Judges

Attorneys high up in the legal profession in Cleveland journeyed all the way across the state of Ohio, Monday, to orally argue a case before the court of appeals of this district.

It was transferred here because of alleged prejudice should the court in Cleveland hear the arguments.

The case concerns the salaries of common pleas judges of Cuyahoga-co, which is at stake in the action. Included among the judges is Florence E. Allen, woman judge.

Prosecuting Attorney Shannahan communicated with the court of appeals here some time ago, asking if the judges here would hear the case. They were asked to sit in Cleveland during the arguments.

The court informed him it would be impossible for them to go to Cleveland, but they would hear the evidence if brought to them here.

The other attorney in the case is W. H. Boyd, who defended Judge McCann during his trial at the time he was acquitted.

The court of appeals of Lima district was selected, first because a few of its decisions are changed in the supreme court, when finally appealed there, and because of the reputation of the judges of this district among attorneys of Ohio as to conservative action and prompt decisions.

While Cincinnati, Toledo or other cities might have been selected near home, Lima was the choice of attorneys concerned in the case.

The oral arguments were begun at 1:30 o'clock Monday. The court will probably take the case under advisement until it has had time to thoroughly review it.

Judges of the court of appeals of this district include Phil. M. Crow, Kent W. Hughes and E. N. Warburton, all of whom were present at the arguments Monday.

WOMAN KILLED IN AUTO WRECK

Husband, Five Children Injured In Crash Near Columbus

COLUMBUS.—(By Associated Press.)—Mrs. Ellen Frew, 42,lick, Ind., was killed and her husband, Henry Frew, 47, and their five children injured, the father probably fatally, when their automobile skidded and upset east of here early this morning.

The family was en route home from Pittsburgh, where they attended on Sunday the funeral of Mrs. Frew's mother, who was killed in an accident last week.

All of the injured were brought to a hospital here and the body of Mrs. Frew to a local morgue. The extent of the children's injuries has not been fully determined. Two sons, William and Alex, escaped with minor injuries, but another son, James, 15, and two daughters, Helen, 10, and Elizabeth 8, sustained possible fractures of bones and serious bruises.

BURGLAR KILLED

Intruder's Head Blown Off By Youngstown Citizen

YOUNGSTOWN.—(By Associated Press.)—John Wilson today nearly blew off the head of an unidentified burglar who had entered his home here and was taking a pane of glass from a door between two adjoining rooms.

The dead man, who was about 30 years old, is the third burglar killed here this year by householders.

BIG OCEAN LINERS IN OPERATION

Rum Smuggling From Abroad Backed By Millions

GREAT CARGOS ARE LANDED

Fishermen Along Coast Employed To Aid In Work

NEW YORK.—(By Associated Press.)—Federal authorities along the Atlantic coast redoubled their vigilance over tramp ships today, following disclosure of evidence indicating the existence of at least two gigantic international whiskey smuggling rings, one having headquarters in this city and one in Atlantic City.

Aid of the navy department also was being sought in an effort to build up a rum-hunting fleet capable of coping with the mysterious ships, and their allied "tobacco" ships, which are alleged to have landed hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of contraband liquor at secluded points under cover of darkness. According to Leroy W. Ross, United States district attorney of Brooklyn, foreign and domestic capital aggregating several million dollars is behind the whiskey smuggling conspiracy.

AUTHORITIES TIPPED.

Koonest watch was being kept by revenue boats today off Montauk Point, toward which, authorities were tipped, a large vessel was bound from the Bahamas Islands with a cargo of 15,000 to 20,000 cases of choice Scotch and Irish whiskey.

The conspirators, learning that word of the sailing had reached federal officials, were reported to be trying frantically to get in touch with the whiskey runner to direct her to another port less carefully watched.

A tramp steamer cruised saucily outside the three mile limit off Atlantic City yesterday, according to reports received here and taunted federal agents by breaking out pennants saying: "Lay down your money and come and get it."

The tramp slipped away as night fell and it was thought she was heading for some deserted port where fishing vessels could work unhampered at the task of lightering her cargo ashore. A three-masted schooner, suspected of being a rum ship also, was reported off Atlantic City.

FISHERMEN HIRED.

Fishermen along the coast, according to Ross, are being organized in a rich harvest, running the forbidden cargoes ashore. They work almost entirely at night, he said, making landings at points known to be free from surveillance. Their compensation is said to be $15 for every case of whiskey landed and many of the fishermen are declared to have abandoned entirely their regular trips to the fishing bank in favor of the more lucrative smuggling.

The smugglers are met on shore by automobile truckmen who whisk the cargoes away to secret storerooms.

Efforts of federal agents to check whiskey running along the coast have led so far to seizure of two vessels. They are the schooner Curlew, taken last week off the coast of Florida, and the fishing smack Jennie, seized Saturday at New Haven.

Government men also have boarded the British schooner Pocanoke, at Atlantic City, but as the vessel's papers show her "wet" cargo to be consigned to Canada, no action has been taken against her or her crew.

AUTOIST IS SHOT

Ohioan Wounded By Holdup Men Near Cincinnati

CINCINNATI.—(By United Press.)—Police of Cincinnati joined in a search today for two auto bandits who shot and fatally wounded Arthur B. Conery, 45, of Columbus, on Middletown pike, two miles north of Hamilton, Sunday.

Conery, who was conversing, Indiana, sales representative for an automobile company, was moving his home from Columbus to Cincinnati. He was driving here from Columbus with his wife.

As they neared Hamilton, the machine containing the bandits stopped across the road in front of them. Two men drew revolvers and ordered him to throw up his hands.

Conery's failure to obey quickly caused the bandits to begin shooting.

FAREWELL PLANNED FOR REV. FATHER J. G. BEHR

The Rev. J. G. Behr, pastor of St. Gerard's church, since its organization here, will be extended an informal reception in the basement of the church at 8 o'clock, Tuesday evening. There will be no program.

The Rev. Father Behr was transferred last week to the rectorate of a church in Rochester, N. Y., and the reception is to give members and friends an opportunity to say goodbye to their pastor.

The Rev. Father Behr is held in high esteem by all Lima people. Everyone will be welcomed at the reception.

ATTORNEYS CLASH IN BOOSE SUIT

Attempt Is Made By Counsel To Introduce Blood Test

PHYSICIAN IS WITNESS

Demand That Books of Boose & Son Be Produced

Taking of testimony in the contested alimony action of Mrs. Frances Robinson Boose against her husband, Roger E. Boose, was resumed in common pleas court here Monday, before Judge E. R. Eastman, Ottawa.

Boose testified that when his wife began feeling badly soon after their marriage, he sent her to Dr. A. J. Basinger, his physician.

Boose could not remember, on cross-examination by Attorney W. L. Mackenzie how often he had visited the physician, Dr. Basinger was called to the witness stand.

He provided an account of his visits to the doctor, showing that from a period beginning April 13, 1920, Boose had visited him several times a week and frequently daily, for treatment.

Dr. Basinger declared he could not remember what he told Mrs. Boose upon the occasion of her visits there. He said he found her in a highly nervous and apparently home-sick state and advised a visit home to her father and mother.

At this point counsel for Boose offered to introduce a Wasserman test of the blood condition of Boose, just prior to his marriage.

"They have attacked us about these trips to the physician and we are going to introduce this as proof," Boose's attorney said.

"I protest. We didn't bring this blood business into this court," counsel for Mrs. Boose retorted.

Judge Eastman interrupted the attorneys in their verbal clash.

BOOKS ARE DEMANDED
Counsel for Mrs. Boose demanded that the books of John M. Boose & Son, of which Roger is a member, be produced, that it might be shown just what amount of money the young man earns monthly.

Demand was also made that receipts be produced to show what Boose had paid in money to Dr. Basinger for professional services. Judge Eastman ordered that those records be produced.

Boose, upon taking the witness stand, acknowledged that he spent all day of the Saturday following the Thursday his wife returned to the home of her parents in Parkersburg, W. Va., in the office of attorneys, in an endeavor to get matters in shape for any contest of the suit which she might bring.

He declared that his wife asked him how much money he would give her a month, if she would leave him. He said he told her he could not afford to settle more than $50 monthly upon her.

Trial will probably consume the remainder of Monday.

Judge Eastman will take all books and records, as well as typewritten testimony in the case, to his home in Ottawa, to review the case, before entering his decision.

2,000 AT OSTEOPATHIC MEETING IN CLEVELAND
CLEVELAND—Nearly two thousand delegates and visitors, including 600 women, are here to attend the twenty-fifth annual convention of the American Osteopathic association which opened this morning and continues thru the week.

Mayor W. S. Fitzgerald welcomed two delegates and Dr. Hugh Conklin responded. Dr. William E. Walder, president of the association, delivered the key note address at the morning session.

GORMAN FUNERAL
Funeral services for Timothy Gorman, late of 559 N. McDonald-st., who died Saturday, will be held Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock at St. Rose Catholic church. Interment will be in Gethsemani.

CHATS WITH YOUR GAS MAN
No matter how good our service is, there is usually one man in the block who is forever finding fault with it. You know the man we mean.

He is a good fellow at heart and talks sanely enough upon other subjects, but when he discusses this company's service he loses his balance completely.

What we regret most, however, is not that this man is sour against us, but that his attacks are permitted to go unchallenged by his friends who are also our friends.

In other words, you and hundreds of other satisfied customers in the same neighborhood take good service for granted, accept it, and say nothing about it. Your silence thus becomes his golden opportunity. With lips sealed, you innocently give him an encouraging slap on the back.

We value your good will, everyone's good will. This company is your company, the public's company. Now let us work together to convert this man from a knocker into a booster.

LIMA NATURAL GAS CO.
LIMA GAS LIGHT CO.

AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT VICTIMS RECOVERING

Contract For $12,000 Improvement Awarded

AUTO MYSTERY IS SOLVED

Mrs. P. H. Kruttsch Dies At Delphos Home

AUTO WRECKED AS DRIVER DOZES

Two Injured In Crash Of Sidney Car Here

Two men driving an Allen car had a rude awakening in Lima, Sunday morning at 7 o'clock, when their automobile struck a stone abutment on the N. West-st. road, near the Shannell oil station.

Both men were thrown to the ground. One suffered a broken nose and the other an injured leg. They resumed their journey to Sidney from Lima by interurban. Both said they were from Sidney, but did not give their names.

The car was reduced to junk. The men said they had been driving since early Saturday, having made a continuous trip, without rest, from La-Crosse, Wis. They declared they were exhausted when they reached here and may have fallen partly asleep before the car struck the obstruction.

The car bore license No. 16372. According to records at police headquarters, the car is owned by William County, Sidney. It is not known whether Mr. Counts was driving the car or whether another person was in charge.

ADMITS CHARGE OF GUN TOTING

Booker Pleads Guilty—Five Deny Indictments

The only prisoner against whom a indictment was returned by the April grand jury, in extended session last week, who pleaded guilty when arraigned Monday, was Howard Booker. He was indicted for carrying concealed weapons. Sentence will be imposed at a later date.

Harry Herley, Walter Aldrich and Alvin Kilgore, trio of young men indicted for larceny in connection with the theft of automobiles, pleaded not guilty. Bond of each was set at $1,000. Healey waived reading of the indictment against him. Herley and Aldrich have secured legal counsel to defend them.

William J. Koontz, indicted for shooting with intent to kill L. C. Carr, from whom he had rented a room for lodging, also pleaded not guilty. Bond was set at $1,500.

Norman Fleming, indicted for larceny in connection with the theft of a horse and buggy, which he is charged with driving to Defiance to sell, pleaded not guilty. Bond was placed at $300.

Trial dates will be decided later.

CRITES DIVORCE SUIT OPENS

Hundreds Crowd Court Room—Boose Case In Judge's Office

When arguments of a Cleveland case became necessary in court of appeals room, Monday afternoon, the contested divorce case of Mary Crites against Reuben Crites, was transferred to common pleas court room.

Presence of more than fifty witnesses in the Crites case and hundreds of spectators filled the room. Mrs. Crites is seeking divorce, after her husband refused her wages from one dollar a day, which he has paid for her more than three years, to $10 a month for her services. The couple have lived together under the same roof, but not as husband and wife.

Crites owns a farm in Amanda, and will fall heir to a large tract of land at the death of his aged mother, Mrs. Crites says.

The hearing will not be concluded Monday, because of the large number of witnesses to be called. In St. F. C. Becker is hearing the case.

With the transfer of the Crites case to common pleas court room, transfer of the alimony hearing of Mrs. Frances Robinson Boose against Roger E. Boose was made to the small quarters of the judge's office on the third floor.

Interested spectators, many of whom were crowded out by transfer of the case, stood on chairs, Monday afternoon, to hear answers of Roger E. Boose while he was being subjected to a grilling at the hands of Mrs. Boose's attorney.

CHARGES OF SHOOTING WITHDRAWN BY BRUNETTO
Charges of shooting with intent to kill were withdrawn in Justice Ernest M. Botkin's court Monday, against Tom Zummo, 31, 115 E. Vine-st., and Tony Zummo, 28, 112 W. Vine-st., by the father-in-law of Tom Zummo.

The two were arrested Saturday night and lodged in jail. Angelo Brunetto, the father-in-law, claimed the two men shot at him. Brunetto resides on Lake-st.

MEN AND MATTERS.
A. C. Rueh, 162 E. Vine-st., is confined to his home with an attack of pleurisy.

Edward Bolger, 618 E. Market-st., is home from a six months' stay in Louisiana, where he was engaged in work in the oil fields.

DELPHOS SCHOOL TO BE REBUILT

Contract For $12,000 Improvement Awarded

AUTO MYSTERY IS SOLVED

Mrs. P. H. Kruttsch Dies At Delphos Home

DELPHOS—(Special)—Improvements on the Franklin school building here, estimated to cost $12,000, will be started at once, according to decision of the board of education. Contracts were awarded to the Delphos Hardware Co., whose bids were 20 per cent lower than others.

Police Chief Oelberg solved the mystery of the car which was found on the streets here when he looked in the license records in Van Wert Co. He found the car's license plates were issued to W. B. Jones, of Van Wert. When he called on Mr. Jones the owner disclaimed the car until he was finally prevailed upon to search the garage, which was found empty. An empty revolver was found in the machine.

The sum of $20,000 additional funds for the construction of the Van Wert portion of the Wayne Highway, which was promised several weeks ago when a county committee held a conference with state officials, has been certified to the board for the county. This information was received by the county commissioners in a dispatch from Leon C. Horrick, state highway commissioner.

Frank Brandelhoff, Ottoville young man and a star ball player, died Sunday at his home in that city as the result of an operation for appendicitis.

It was reported here Saturday that Herbert Kantz, of Lima, was dead. Investigation proved the report false, although no hope is entertained for his recovery. He is the son of Mrs. William Kantz, formerly Beanie Pettier, of this city.

Mrs. P. H. Kruttsch, 53, of this city, died at her home here Saturday afternoon. She was ill for more than a year. Death was due to a complication of diseases.

Mary Woodruff was born in Toledo in 1868, and was a daughter of William and Anne Woodruff. She came to this city when a small child, and in 1888 was married to Elmer Hartshorn. One child was born to them, dying in infancy. In 1901 she was married to Patrick Kruttsch.

Surviving are the husband and two nieces, Miss Grace Hartshorn and Mrs. Roy Feathers.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Grafton, of this city, received a message Saturday from their son, Paul A., announcing his arrival in San Francisco from the Orient. He will visit here in the near future.

Grafton spent six years in the Orient. He first taught in Japan, where he was located in Yamasaki Ken, where he was the only white among 20,000 people.

Mrs. Frank Beckman of this city suffered a painful injury Saturday when she fell and fractured a bone in her wrist.

A painful, but not serious accident occurred Saturday when Carl Ebbskotte, small son of Mrs. Eleanor Ebbskotte, was badly burned from the kerosene down while cleaning grease from an automobile with gasoline at a blacksmith shop where he is employed.

The body of Harry E. Roll, who died of pneumonia while at the front in France, arrived in this city, en route to Willshire. It was transferred to the Clover Leaf and taken to his parents' home in Willshire, from where a military funeral was held Sunday.

NEW ROTARY PRESIDENT
PRESIDES FIRST TIME

An ovation in welcome to President George E. Bayly on his return as a delegate to the International convention at Edinburgh, featured the luncheon of the Rotary club at the Normal, Monday noon.

President Bayly was elected in May, but deferred his departure for Europe before taking office and this was his first presiding day. A song festival and clever talk by A. W. Hutchins, representative of the United States Chamber of Commerce, were features of the day. Hutchins spoke on "The Measure of a Man," delivering a splendid talk, full of food for serious thought.

Other members of President Bayly's party arrived in New York from the Aquitania, Saturday. He is Thomas, the banker, and Dr. T. R. Thomas, the surgeon, were joined there by their wives and will return during the week, while Mr. and Mrs. John H. Blattenberg stopped off at Mansfield and will reach Lima Tuesday.

OIL TANK ACCIDENT VICTIM RECOVERING

Condition of Isaac A. Brodeur, 722 Center-st., Illinois Pipe Line employee who suffered severe injuries when he fell 25 feet to the bottom of an oil tank south of Lima Saturday is recovering at the City hospital.

Amputation of the right arm will not be necessary, according to announcement from the hospital. The flesh was laid open nearly to the bone the entire distance around the arm when it was caught by timbers as he fell.

LIMA MAN HEARS BILLY
SUNDAY SPEAK AT WINONA

C. E. Strawbridge, city letter carrier, returned Sunday evening from Winona Lake, Ind., where he attended a meeting, conducted by Rev. Billy Sunday. He reports that Sunday was the same old and old enthusiasm that characterized the evangelist when he conducted a campaign here ten years ago last spring.

H. A. F. J. never was with the party in Lima, is still with Sunday. It is estimated that 15,000 persons heard Billy Sunday speak at nearly every session.

BOARD PLANS DETAILS OF PRIMARY ELECTION TO BE HELD AUGUST 9

Preparations for the primary election two weeks hence are being made at the office of the election board. Supplies are being sent out to various precincts, not only in Lima, but to all places in Allen-co holding an election.

Outside of Delphos and Lima, nominations will be made by petition. Blanks for this purpose have been issued to those who call for them at the election board.

Ballots for absentee voters were sent out Monday, in response to an application for Delphos.

Owing to dispute over the lease, the election board may move precinct polling place E in Third Ward from 209 S. Pine to another address. The property is said to be used to W. B. Eley, and is being for a grocery. Registration day, a woman in charge of the place sought to prevent the registrars from entering, stating that she was the lessee. It is stated. It was also found that the room is too small to accommodate election furniture.

Separate ballot boxes will be provided in each polling place. One box will be for city commissioners and the other for votes for justice, school board, constable and assessor.

BEELER IS AGAIN
INDICTED

Embezzlement Charged to Former Shawnee-Tp School Clerk

Allie Beeler, former Shawnee-Tp farmer and clerk of the board of education of that township, was indicted for embezzlement by the April grand jury, in extended session, last week. Bond for Beeler was set at $5,000 by Judge Becker Monday.

Beeler was indicted by the former April grand jury, but owing to a clerical error in drawing the indictment, Prosecuting Attorney Lippincott notified the count against Beeler when he was arraigned some weeks ago and called the grand jury in special session to bring another indictment.

The prosecutor declared he would take no chances of legal counsel for Beeler finding a flaw in the indictment. Beeler says if the board is short in its funds, he did not receive it and that he does not know where the money went.

Beeler signed three notes when the alleged defalcations were discovered. Beeler secured an attorney and ordered the judgment opened. It was at that time the board of education laid the matter before the grand jury.

Beeler is now employed on the new construction work being done on the grounds at Shawnee Country club. The indictment against Beeler was one of three secret actions by the grand jury.

KIBBY-ST WORK IS NOT RESUMED

City Water Payment Order Holds Up Street Work

County commissioners Monday reiterated their statements made Saturday that no work will be done on E. Kibby-st. as long as Service director Elmer McClain demands payment for city water used in boilers of steam roller.

McClain Saturday stated that he had demanded pay for the water because he could not do otherwise under the rules governing the department.

Solicitor H. E. Garling, when questioned concerning the matter Monday, refused to substantiate McClain's contention that he was required to charge for the water.

"I am not able to say," said the solicitor, "whether the city is obliged to collect for water used in this manner. The matter has never come up before and I would have to look it up to give an opinion."

"Work on the Kibby-st. improvement is at a standstill," declared Glen I. Wallace, clerk of the board, Monday. "And it's going to be a hard matter to get the crew back on the job."

Wallace stated that there have been instances in the past where the county did work for the city and no charge was made for the water used.

County Surveyor E. A. Miller, who had direct supervision of the Kibby-st. job, was busy on other matters Monday morning. A representative of the state highway departments, the commissioners, and Miller are going over plans for the Elida-rd. The state desires to commence work on this highway at once.

ACCIDENTS IN RODEO FORCE TROOP E INTO SECOND HONOR CLASS

Troop E of Lima won second honors at Camp Perry in the rodeo and drill held Saturday by the 1st Ohio Cavalry. First honors went to Troop K.

Troop E reached home Sunday after an all night ride from camp. Failure to land first honors is attributed by members of the organization to the fact that several minor accidents during the rodeo of field day last morning caused Troop E to lose points, that otherwise would have been won.

WILL REMOVE CHINAMAN TO STATE HOSPITAL

Tom Pon, 113 E. North-st., Chinaman, adjudged insane on June 15, will be taken to the Toledo State hospital for treatment, Tuesday. Pon has been confined to the county jail here since the hearing.

Pon was not of native birth and it was necessary for Probate Judge J. H. Hamilton to communicate with the state board of administration, asking for special permission to admit the Chinaman to the state hospital. The permit reached Lima Monday.

Sherriff Baxter will take Pon to the asylum Tuesday.

GRASS FIRE DOES BIG DAMAGE

Evergreen Cemetery At Wapak Is Burned Over

FIRES ALONG R. R. TRACKS

Child Scalded When Vessel of Water Overturns

WAPAKONETA—(Special)—Damage to the extent of several hundred dollars was occasioned to the old Evergreen cemetery, at the northeast edge of this city, when it was burned over, dried grass being fired from a B. & O. R. locomotive. The cemetery was long neglected, but this year a fund was subscribed and the grounds were placed in good condition.

Fires along the right of way of the B. & O. and the Western Ohio Railroad, north of this city, where the lines parallel, have occasioned quite heavy damage. At various places the fire communicated to grain fields.

Many members from this county will attend the gathering and picnic of the Northwestern Ohio Duroe association at the Putnam county fair grounds at Ottawa, Thursday, August 9. This county is scheduled to speak. Charles F. Sprague, Lima, is president of the organization.

The death of Henry T. Reincke, his nephew, of Elyburg, brought Soladore Vaubel, an early settler of Auglaize-co back to his old haunts. Mr. Vaubel, who makes his home in Minneapolis, left here 55 years ago during the Civil War and this is his second visit here since that time.

R. G. Haman of this city and Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Stayner of DeGraff were slightly injured when auto collided at a crossroads four miles east of here, Saturday.

The 18 months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Waid Woehler was severely scalded Sunday morning at the family home here when a vessel of hot water was overturned onto the child's shoulder and arm.

Dorothy Eileen Brown, one year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Brown of Glynwood, northwest of here, is dead.

The safety department here bought 500 feet of new hose upon recommendation of Fire Chief Vorhees, for the fire department.

A "Red Arrow Club," composed of members of the famous 32nd division of the World War, was organized here, as part of a national movement.

Auglaize Post, American Legion, will give a farmers' picnic at Johnson's grove Tuesday, August 16.

Don Vorhees of Lima was arrested and fined $15 and costs by Justice of the Peace Smith of Wayne-tp. He cleaned vaults of Waynesfield schools and deposited the contents on farm of Floyd Gould, who filed an affidavit against him.

TRAIN RIDER FINED,
ORDERED TO VAMOOSE

Edward Haymire, 35, residence any old place he hangs his hat, was given a fine of $5 and costs and five minutes in which to get out of town, by Justice Ernest M. Botkin, Monday.

Haymire was arrested by Detective Rosen of the Erie railroad, charged with train-riding. He and no money.

Rather than lock him up in jail, the court imposed a small fine and gave him a sentence to shake the dust from his feet of Lima without further notice.

NEW EVENTS PLANNED FOR LIMA PLAYGROUNDS

Reed work and basketmaking is to be the feature of Lima playground activities this week. Supervised study in the making of trays, flower baskets, etc., will be given to those interested in the work.

The work is under the direction of Miss Townsend at McCullough park, Miss Wells at Lincoln park, Miss Williams at City park and Miss Snitter at the Whittier play ground.

All girls have had experience in the work. Fred Wallace, director of playgrounds, is planning many new events for the remainder of the summer. The playgrounds have excellent equipment this year and a great deal of good work is being done.

CLOTHES FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY ON CREDIT!

"Get Acquainted with Kugelman"

Clothing THE STAR Clothing

A Lima Owned Store 17 Public Square

HENRY KELLER FINED $100 ON CHARGE OF TRANSPORTING LIQUOR

Henry Keller, former proprietor of a cafe here, was up for trial in Justice Ernest M. Botkin's court, Monday, on two charges, to which he had previously pleaded not guilty.

Keller waived examination and was bound over to the grand jury on a charge of driving an automobile, while in a state of intoxication on July 20, on W. Elm-st. He was released on $100 bond, filed by his father, Peter Keller.

Keller changed his plea of not guilty to guilty on the charge of transporting liquor and was fined $100 and costs, the latter amounting to $4.65.

Like charges filed against John Harmer, Keller's former bar tender, who was with him at the time of arrest, were withdrawn.

MERCHANTS PLAN TRADE SHOW

Fall Event To Eclipse Previous Efforts—Dollar Day

Plans for a Fall trade show, to be held during September, which will eclipse anything heretofore held in Lima, will be discussed by members of the Merchants' association at a dinner at the Argonne Tuesday night.

The affair is to be for all lines of trade and not confined to mercantile houses, as is the case with so-called style shows. At present the exhibition is being called a trade show, but another title may be picked at Tuesday's meeting.

In planning the show, the merchants who have been interested believed it best to get away from the old hackneyed style show confined only to clothing lines. The trade show will not only include all the features of a style show, but furniture, dealers, stove men, music dealers, jewelers and others will participate.

Each merchant will have his own exhibit in his own store, according to present plans.

Dollar Day will be observed as usual, it was announced Monday, on the last Wednesday in August.

NO WOMEN CHOSEN FOR JURORS

Commission Selects 500 Names of Men For Jury Wheel

There will be no woman jurors in Allen-co next year.

The jury commission, which has just completed its work of selecting 500 names of persons who will serve upon juries the remainder of its year and next, have completed their work. There are no women upon in the list.

One of the last acts of Ira F. Clem, county clerk of courts, before relinquishing his office Saturday, will be place the names of these jurors in the wheel.

Judge F. C. Becker and Sheriff Charles W. Baxter will be present, according to law, when names are inscribed in the wheel.

These three officials are required to be present, also, when names are drawn for jury service.

The jury commission consist of J. B. Sunderland, Amanda-tp, and Clarence English, Lima.

On account of conditions at the court house not being such as to provide proper accommodations for women jurors, the jury commission decided against placing names of women in the jury wheel.

HARRASSING OFFICER IS CHARGED TO FULLERTON

J. W. Fullerton, charged by George Landfair of the Lima police department, with harrassing and annoying him, will be tried Wednesday afternoon in police court before Judge Jackson.

Fullerton, who is supposed to have treated Landfair for some illness, is accused of annoying Landfair because Landfair failed to pay him a certain sum of money. Landfair refuses to pay more because, he claims, Fullerton failed to cure him. Fullerton cannot issue a bill under the law, because he is not a legal physician, police say.

DAUGHTER FOR PERKINS
Word has been received from San Francisco, announcing the birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Perkins, Sunday. Mrs. Perkins, before her marriage was Miss Margaret Warner, a former resident of this city and a niece of Mr. and Mrs. George Vicary, W. Market-st.

SOX CONFESSION REPUDIATED

Cicotte Tells Court He Was Promised Immunity

DENIES FORMER TESTIMONY

"Shoeless Joe" Jackson Takes The Witness Stand

CHICAGO—(By United Press)—Eddie Cicotte, outlawed pitching ace for the Chicago White Sox, repudiated his confession of selling out to gamblers today.

Eddie, once the finest of the White Sox stated he confessed to his part of "throwing" the 1919 world series after he was promised immunity by the state.

The pitcher is one of the seven Black Sox charged with conspiracy to throw the championship games.

Cicotte, according to testimony already given at the trial, said he would lose the first game to Cincinnati if he had "to throw the ball over the fence."

His testimony was taken while the jury was excused, and the court was considering whether or not to admit confessions made by Cicotte, Jackson and Williams.

CICOTTE'S CLAIM
"Attorneys Austrian and Replogle told me to come clean and tell what I knew and they would free me," Cicotte said.

"They said to me: 'This is going to be a long trial. You don't want your wife and babies to suffer while you are in the penitentiary do you?'"

"I confessed, and when I was in the grand jury room, Judge McDonald said: 'Go ahead and indict him.' I protested and said I had been promised freedom. The judge shouted: 'What are you trying to do—bull me?'"

"They asked me to step out of the room and when I came back I was indicted."

State's Attorney Gorman then cross-examined the pitching ace.

"I will show this man was panic stricken and ran to the grand jury to confess," said Gorman.

"Didn't you cry and say you wanted to tell all you knew?" Gorman asked.

"No," said Cicotte.

Q—"Didn't you read all about the ball scandal in the papers and spill everything of your own free will?"

A—"No."

Q—"They promised me freedom."

A—"Didn't you cry bitterly?"

Q—"No; I may have had

CINDERELLA TODAY

By RUBY M. AYERS

The lights thru the trees turned out to be Farmer Smee's trap on its way back from Marley. He pulled up sharply when Pauline darted out into the road.

Would he — wouldn't he be a good Samaritan and turn back and take them with him?

Stanford came forward.

"We lost the last train from the village. If you will be so kind as to take this lady on to Marley I shall be only too pleased if you will allow me to go."

Pauline struck in. "He's lame—he's only just been invalided out of the army. 'Yes, I shall tell him,' as Stanford tried to stop her. 'Please, please, Mr. Smee if you'll now give Capt. Stanford a lift—I don't mind the walk.'"

A wavering smile suddenly crossed the old man's weather-beaten features.

"Climb in, both of you," he said affably. "I'm too old for this war, or I'd have gone with the first of them! But it shan't ever be said that I drove home in comfort and left a brave man to walk five miles on a bitter night like this. Jump in, sir, jump in, missy."

"You'd best take the back seat, both of you," he said. "I've got a load of parcels up here beside me. There's some straw for your feet and you can have my rug. . . ."

"We will get out at the station, and you must go on," Stanford said. "You'd better run; I don't like the idea of your going thru the village alone, but I don't suppose it can't be helped."

"Nobody will run away with me," said Pauline, serenely.

"I wonder if Cynthia has had such a good time as we have," Pauline said suddenly.

"I hope so," Stanford answered.

"She turned amazed eyes towards him."

"You hope so?" she echoed helplessly. Capt. Stanford, why do people get engaged to people if they don't love them? They don't have to?"

"No, I know they don't. A man may be lonely, desperately lonely, and perhaps a woman comes along who is . . . well, nice to him and he likes her and admires her and one day he wakes up and finds that he has bought a diamond ring and given it to her, and there you are!"

No answer.

"The other day," Stanford said presently, "when you told me about your sister and the . . . p. g., you said that they would be so rich that it wouldn't matter much if they cared for each other or not."

"Yes, but I didn't know then that you were the p. g.," said Pauline.

He could see the lights of Marley away in the distance, and he knew that the drive was nearing the end. Old Smee half turned in his seat.

"What part of Marley was you wanting, sir?"

Stanford roused himself with a start.

"Put us down at the station," he said. "Just this side of the station will do."

And in another moment the trap was at a standstill, and he and Pauline had clambered down.

"And now I suppose I must run," she said.

"Good-night— . . . I hope you're not very tired."

"It's been the happiest day of my life," said Stanford.

Pauline held out her hand.

"Good-night," she said again.

He took her hand in his, then bent and kissed it.

"Good-night," he said abruptly, and turned away toward the station.

"You're not in bed? I'm so glad. I want to speak to you," Mrs. Boulton came in and closed the door with an air of mystery. "Pauline," she said agitatedly, "do you know where Cynthia is?"

Pauline stared.

"Cynthia!" she echoed, blankly.

"No, of course I don't! I haven't seen her since breakfast! I thought she'd gone to town—to the dress-makers," she added.

Mrs. Boulton looked round the room nervously.

"I know—so she did! But I thought . . . She hasn't come back yet and I'm so worried." There was a real anxiety in her voice.

"But I thought—" began Pauline. "I thought you told me she had gone to bed with a headache."

"I did—I know I did. I've told Capt. Stanford the same thing. But she hasn't come in, Pauline, and there are no more trains from London!"

Pauline sat down heavily on the side of the bed. Supposing Cynthia had run away with Rodney Langton?

Mrs. Boulton regarded her step-daughter.

"Can't you see? Don't you understand," she asked, in a trembling voice. "If Cynthia has come anything foolish . . . If Rodney Langton has persuaded her to go off and marry him, can't you see what it will mean to all of us? I shall be ruined and disgraced. It will break Capt. Stanford's heart."

Pauline had risen to her feet.

"What do you want me to do?" she asked.

"I don't want you to do anything; but if you would just keep awake and listen, in case she comes in, I haven't given up hope yet. People do lose trains, you know."

"Yes," said Pauline sympathetically, a little ghost of a smile in her eyes. "Yes, I know they do."

"And she may have been able to get a taxi down, or some sort of conveyance."

"I'll do my best to keep awake," said Pauline.

"And whatever you do, whatever happens," Mrs. Boulton enjoined her, "for heaven's sake, not one word of this to Capt. Stanford."

"No," said Pauline.

Pauline yawned and rubbed her eyes; looking across at an alarm clock on the narrow mantel-shelf; it was nearly 11 o'clock!

Pauline thought she heard a voice.

"Pauline!" It was Cynthia's voice, down there in the garden.

Pauline was out of the room and down the stairs like a flash; her light footsteps made no sound. She drew back the bolts of the front door with trembling hands, and saw Cynthia there on the doorstep.

"Oh, I'm so glad! You must be frozen! I'll get you something hot to drink."

Pauline pushed open the library door.

The dying embers of a fire still filled the grate; she went on her knees and coaxed them to a flicker. Cynthia had followed her into the room.

"There'll be quite a decent fire in a minute," Pauline said hopefully. Then she turned, and for the first time the two girls looked at one another. Pauline held out her hands with a stifled cry of pity.

"Oh, what's the matter?" Her step-sister's beautiful face was blanched with tears, pale and pitiful. Pauline's arms were round her shoulder.

"Oh, don't cry, don't cry! Capt. Stanford will hear if you do! His room's right over this, you know!"

"Oh, how cold you are!" She started to her feet. "I'll make some hot coffee."

"She found her way into the kitchen and lit a gas jet. Presently she came back with a steaming cup of it and some thin bread and butter.

She stood up and made Cynthia drink the coffee, then she spoke timidly.

"Do come to bed. You must be worn out."

For a moment Cynthia sobbed broken-heartedly, her head against Pauline's shoulder. Then with a gesture of repulsion she pushed her away.

"It's your fault! I didn't want to cry! I hate crying. . . ."

She rose to her feet and began pacing up and down the room. "I suppose you're thinking horrid things about me," she said. "But there's nothing. I had dinner in town with a friend. . . . He—she's going back to France soon, so you need not be shocked!"

She turned her wild eyes on Pauline with a sort of scorn. "So it's all over, anyway. . . . I came home on the last train. . . . I saw . . . Capt. Stanford at the station, and . . . I didn't want to see him! That's all! I've just been walking about—walking about—ever since . . ."

She stopped and drew a long breath.

"I only waited up in case you came in late," said Pauline. "Mrs. Boulton was anxious—and so . . . oh, do come to bed!" she added.

Cynthia wiped her eyes.

"I wish I could sleep and never wake up again," she said, with dull weariness; then she laughed.

"Oh, what a fool I am—what a fool! As if it matters—any of it! Poor little Pauline! You must think I'm mad. You're such a child!"

"I'm not such a child," said Pauline, resentfully. "I'm twenty."

But Cynthia seemed not to hear; she went out of the room and upstairs.

Pauline moved then. She took the tray to the kitchen and turned out the lights; then she went back to the library, and kneeling down on the rug, took up all the tongs and carefully removed all the pieces of coal that were not yet thoroughly burnt thru—they would do for the morning."

Then she turned the rug back and had turned to go, when she noticed that the lid of a desk in the window was wide open and that some papers had tumbled from the inside to the floor.

She went across to it, picked them up and was returning them to a drawer when the door behind her opened, and Stanford walked in.

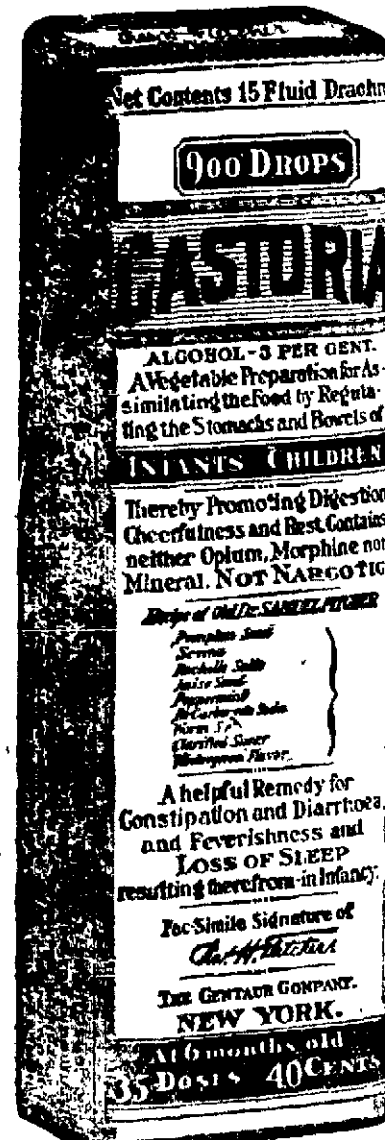

Pauline gave a little startled cry

Why Castoria?

YEARS ago Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups were the remedies in common use for Infants and Children; Castor Oil so nauseating as to be almost impossible and the others all containing Opium in one form or another, but so disguised as to make them pleasant to the taste, yet really to stupefy the child and give the appearance of relief from pain.

It required years of research to find a purely vegetable combination that would take the place of these disagreeable, unpleasant and vicious remedies that from habit had become almost universal. This was the inception of, and the reason for, the introduction of Fletcher's Castoria, and for over 30 years it has proven its worth, received the praise of Physicians everywhere and become a household word among mothers.

A remedy ESPECIALLY prepared for Infants and Children and no mother would think of giving to her baby a remedy that she would use for herself, without consulting a physician.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

Have You Tried It?

Everybody has read the above headline; how many believe it? Have you a little one in the home, and has that dear little mite when its stomach was not just right felt the comforts that come with the use of Fletcher's Castoria? You have heard the cry of pain. Have you heard them cry for Fletcher's Castoria? Try it.

Just help baby out of its trouble tomorrow with a taste of Castoria. Watch the difference in the tone of the cry, the look in the eye, the wiggle in the tiny fingers. The transformation is complete—from pain to pleasure. Try it.

You'll find a wonderful lot of information about Baby in the booklet that is wrapped around every bottle of Fletcher's Castoria.

GENUINE CASTORIA ALWAYS

Bears the Signature of

Wm. H. Fletcher

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

"Smooth as a baby's skin"

Why not? There are too few years between youth and babyhood to work noticeable changes in a young girl's skin. And a fresh, smooth complexion keeps its beauty long after girlhood's days have passed.

Learn how to take care of your skin, find out what it needs and your complexion will soon merit this compliment. The roughness, the little blemishes, the coarseness of texture which many girls try to cover up with powder can be transformed into alluring freshness and delicacy.

What every complexion needs

Once every day your skin must be gently but thoroughly cleansed from all accumulations of dirt, perspiration and excess oil secretions.

Powder and rouge must be removed, traces of cold cream washed away. Every tiny pore must be freed from clogging accumulations so that the network of minute glands can do their necessary work.

Neglect this daily cleansing, or depend upon cold cream alone, and dirt, oil, perspiration, powder, rouge and the cream itself combine in an impervious coat which smothers your natural complexion.

The result is sluggishness which soon results in a lifeless, sallow skin. Blackheads develop, dirt infections produce pimples, the filled up pores enlarge into unattractive coarseness.

Volume and efficiency produce 25-cent quality for

10c

Such a skin is a disfigurement which cosmetics can't conceal. Simple cleansing once a day will quickly cure it.

You must use soap and water

There is no other safe, quick, satisfactory cleanser.

Mild soap, of course, balmy and soothing, which means Palmolive Soap. Its profuse creamy lather is the scientific blend of palm and olive oils, the mild gentle cleansers Cleopatra used.

If your skin is oily apply this cosmetic lather without preparation, massaging it thoroughly into every tiny skin cell until not a trace of foreign matter remains.

If your skin is inclined to dryness apply a little cold cream before you start cleansing. This keeps the most sensitive skin delightfully soft and smooth.

Enormous volume reduces price

If we made Palmolive in small quantities the price would be high. Palm and olive oils are costly ingredients—they come from overseas. We import them in such vast quantity that the price is much reduced.

The Palmolive factories work day and night to supply the enormous and ever growing demand. This reduces manufacturing cost.

Result, the finest facial soap modern science, employing an ancient beauty secret, can produce, at the price of ordinary soap. Palmolive, everywhere, costs only 10 cents a cake.

THE PALMOLIVE COMPANY

MILWAUKEE, U. S. A.

THE PALMOLIVE COMPANY OF CANADA, Limited

TORONTO, ONT.

Also makers of a complete line of toilet articles and dropped the papers helplessly.

"Oh," she said, "you did startle me!"

Stanford came a step further into the room.

"I heard some one moving about. I thought it might be burglars, so I came down." His eyes searched her flushed face. "Is there anything the matter?" he asked, anxiously.

"No. There's nothing the matter," she said. "I came down for a book, that's all, and the desk was open, and some papers had fallen out, so I picked them up. . . ."

"And dropped them again, of course," he said smiling.

Pauline smiled, too.

"Anyway, there wasn't a burglar," she said. Her eyes sought his interestedly. "What would you have done if there had been?" she asked.

Stanford shrugged his shoulders.

"I don't know—laid him out if I'd have had a chance."

"Yes," said Pauline, admiringly. "I bet you would, too. . . . Well—good-night!"

"Good-night!" Pauline fled up stairs, tumbled into bed, and was asleep in five minutes.

(To Be Continued)

PATTERN FOR TODAY

A COMFORTABLE UNDER GARMENT

Pattern 3681 is shown in this model. It is cut in 6 Sizes, 4, 6, 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. A 10 year size will require 2 1/4 yards of 36 inch material.

Long cloth, cambric, muslin, lawn, crepe, and outing flannel could be used for this design.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10c in silver or stamps.

Name

Number

Town

Pattern No. Size

Address Pattern Department, The Lima News, Lima, Ohio.

CYLINDER RE-GRINDING

Bushings, Pins, Rings, Pistons We guarantee all workmanship and materials. Demand our service from your garage.

MULLENHOUR BROS.

A WIFE IN THE MAKING

By PHILLIS PHILLIPS

Cherry stayed in her room most of the morning. She had a severe headache and was suffering from a bad reaction.

It was not until near lunch time that she dragged herself up from her bed and over to the dressing table. With languid hands she brushed out her long hair, staring at herself as she did so. There were dark shadows under her eyes which told their own story. The events of the last day or so had been more than any wife could stand.

Having finished her toilette, Cherry got into a cool muslin dress, took a bath, and then went down onto the quiet side porch.

From here she could hear Aunt Phoebe singing happily to herself as she prepared the mid-day meal. Life was such a perpetual joy to her, Cherry reflected.

Some few minutes later she heard Ned come up the front path, enter the house and call her name. Then, at getting no response, he bounded up to his room, and not finding his wife there came down again.

"Here, Ned, here," called Cherry, inwardly dreading the inevitable conflict.

To her surprise, Ned kissed her affectionately as ever, just as if there had been no scene at the table that morning.

"Well, lady-bird, how are you now?" he questioned. "My little girl has dark lines under her eyes. What has she been doing, I wonder?" was his next remark.

"Had a bad headache all morning, Ned, dear. It's not quite gone even now. But then I ate so little breakfast, and I was so upset, that—"

"Now, now, darling, don't begin all over about that nonsense. I've thought it all over, and if you really feel the way you do say you do about things, why you go ahead and take your position at Hamlet's. I wasn't really thinking; about my own side in the case when I quarreled with you about it—it was for mother's. However, you're quite right. You did not marry my family, little girl. And they have no right to dictate to you as to what you shall or shall not do. I'll speak to mother alone later on. So don't you worry any more about anything. Just smile at your naughty boy, and come in and get a good luncheon. Then you'll feel a heap better."

Cherry threw her arms lovingly round his neck at these words. She felt utterly relieved. Her Ned was not so narrow-minded and selfish as she thought, after all! Thank goodness for that.

"Honey-boy, I love being your wife, and don't you ever think differently either no matter what anybody tells you. But I never realized that there'd be so little to occupy myself with here in Wellsburg. Maybe in a year or so I'll get used to it, like the rest of the wives, but right now I am so happy that you see things as I do, dear." And here she hugged him again.

"Well, there has to be a change in the old order sometime, just as Miss Bates said this morning when we were talking things over. Someone in the new generation has to start something. Be different, somewhat. And if it's you, Cherry, who has more than any wife could stand."

Cherry finished her toilette, Cherry got into a cool muslin dress, took a bath, and then went down onto the quiet side porch.

From here she could hear Aunt Phoebe singing happily to herself as she prepared the mid-day meal. Life was such a perpetual joy to her, Cherry reflected.

Some few minutes later she heard Ned come up the front path, enter the house and call her name. Then, at getting no response, he bounded up to his room, and not finding his wife there came down again.

"Here, Ned, here," called Cherry, inwardly dreading the inevitable conflict.

To her surprise, Ned kissed her affectionately as ever, just as if there had been no scene at the table that morning.

"Well, lady-bird, how are you now?" he questioned. "My little girl has dark lines under her eyes. What has she been doing, I wonder?" was his next remark.

"Had a bad headache all morning, Ned, dear. It's not quite gone even now. But then I ate so little breakfast, and I was so upset, that—"

"Now, now, darling, don't begin all over about that nonsense. I've thought it all over, and if you really feel the way you do say you do about things, why you go ahead and take your position at Hamlet's. I wasn't really thinking; about my own side in the case when I quarreled with you about it—it was for mother's. However, you're quite right. You did not marry my family, little girl. And they have no right to dictate to you as to what you shall or shall not do. I'll speak to mother alone later on. So don't you worry any more about anything. Just smile at your naughty boy, and come in and get a good luncheon. Then you'll feel a heap better."

Cherry threw her arms lovingly round his neck at these words. She felt utterly relieved. Her Ned was not so narrow-minded and selfish as she thought, after all! Thank goodness for that.

"Honey-boy, I love being your wife, and don't you ever think differently either no matter what anybody tells you. But I never realized that there'd be so little to occupy myself with here in Wellsburg. Maybe in a year or so I'll get used to it, like the rest of the wives, but right now I am so happy that you see things as I do, dear." And here she hugged him again.

"Well, there has to be a change in the old order sometime, just as Miss Bates said this morning when we were talking things over. Someone in the new generation has to start something. Be different, somewhat. And if it's you, Cherry, who has more than any wife could stand."

Cherry finished her toilette, Cherry got into a cool muslin dress, took a bath, and then went down onto the quiet side porch.

From here she could hear Aunt Phoebe singing happily to herself as she prepared the mid-day meal. Life was such a perpetual joy to her, Cherry reflected.

Some few minutes later she heard Ned come up the front path, enter the house and call her name. Then, at getting no response, he bounded up to his room, and not finding his wife there came down again.

"Here, Ned, here," called Cherry, inwardly dreading the inevitable conflict.

To her surprise, Ned kissed her affectionately as ever, just as if there had been no scene at the table that morning.

"Well, lady-bird, how are you now?" he questioned. "My little girl has dark lines under her eyes. What has she been doing, I wonder?" was his next remark.

"Had a bad headache all morning, Ned, dear. It's not quite gone even now. But then I ate so little breakfast, and I was so upset, that—"

"Now, now, darling, don't begin all over about that nonsense. I've thought it all over, and if you really feel the way you do say you do about things, why you go ahead and take your position at Hamlet's. I wasn't really thinking; about my own side in the case when I quarreled with you about it—it was for mother's. However, you're quite right. You did not marry my family, little girl. And they have no right to dictate to you as to what you shall or shall not do. I'll speak to mother alone later on. So don't you worry any more about anything. Just smile at your naughty boy, and come in and get a good luncheon. Then you'll feel a heap better."

Cherry threw her arms lovingly round his neck at these words. She felt utterly relieved. Her Ned was not so narrow-minded and selfish as she thought, after all! Thank goodness for that.

"Honey-boy, I love being your wife, and don't you ever think differently either no matter what anybody tells you. But I never realized that there'd be so little to occupy myself with here in Wellsburg. Maybe in a year or so I'll get used to it, like the rest of the wives, but right now I am so happy that you see things as I do, dear." And here she hugged him again.

"Well, there has to be a change in the old order sometime, just as Miss Bates said this morning when we were talking things over. Someone in the new generation has to start something. Be different, somewhat. And if it's you, Cherry, who has more than any wife could stand."

Cherry finished her toilette, Cherry got into a cool muslin dress, took a bath, and then went down onto the quiet side porch.

From here she could hear Aunt Phoebe singing happily to herself as she prepared the mid-day meal. Life was such a perpetual joy to her, Cherry reflected.

Some few minutes later she heard Ned come up the front path, enter the house and call her name. Then, at getting no response, he bounded up to his room, and not finding his wife there came down again.

"Here, Ned, here," called Cherry, inwardly dreading the inevitable conflict.

To her surprise, Ned kissed her affectionately as ever, just as if there had been no scene at the table that morning.

"Well, lady-bird, how are you now?" he questioned. "My little girl has dark lines under her eyes. What has she been doing, I wonder?" was his next remark.

"Had a bad headache all morning, Ned, dear. It's not quite gone even now. But then I ate so little breakfast, and I was so upset, that—"

"Now, now, darling, don't begin all over about that nonsense. I've thought it all over, and if you really feel the way you do say you do about things, why you go ahead and take your position at Hamlet's. I wasn't really thinking; about my own side in the case when I quarreled with you about it—it was for mother's. However, you're quite right. You did not marry my family, little girl. And they have no right to dictate to you as to what you shall or shall not do. I'll speak to mother alone later on. So don't you worry any more about anything. Just smile at your naughty boy, and come in and get a good luncheon. Then you'll feel a heap better."

Cherry threw her arms lovingly round his neck at these words. She felt utterly relieved. Her Ned was not so narrow-minded and selfish as she thought, after all! Thank goodness for that.

"Honey-boy, I love being your wife, and don't you ever think differently either no matter what anybody tells you. But I never realized that there'd be so little to occupy myself with here in Wellsburg. Maybe in a year or so I'll get used to it, like the rest of the wives, but right now I am so happy that you see things as I do, dear." And here she hugged him again.

"Well, there has to be a change in the old order sometime, just as Miss Bates said this morning when we were talking things over. Someone in the new generation has to start something. Be different, somewhat. And if it's you, Cherry, who has more than any wife could stand."

Cherry finished her toilette, Cherry got into a cool muslin dress, took a bath, and then went down onto the quiet side porch.

From here she could hear Aunt Phoebe singing happily to herself as she prepared the mid-day meal. Life was such a perpetual joy to her, Cherry reflected.

Some few minutes later she heard Ned come up the front path, enter the house and call her name. Then, at getting no response, he bounded up to his room, and not finding his wife there came down again.

"Here, Ned, here," called Cherry, inwardly dreading the inevitable conflict.

To her surprise, Ned kissed her affectionately as ever, just as if there had been no scene at the table that morning.

"Well, lady-bird, how are you now?" he questioned. "My little girl has dark lines under her eyes. What has she been doing, I wonder?" was his next remark.

"Had a bad headache all morning, Ned, dear. It's not quite gone even now. But then I ate so little breakfast, and I was so upset, that—"

"Now, now, darling, don't begin all over about that nonsense. I've thought it all over, and if you really feel the way you do say you do about things, why you go ahead and take your position at Hamlet's. I wasn't really thinking; about my own side in the case when I quarreled with you about it—it was for mother's. However, you're quite right. You did not marry my family, little girl. And they have no right to dictate to you as to what you shall or shall not do. I'll speak to mother alone later on. So don't you worry any more about anything. Just smile at your naughty boy, and come in and get a good luncheon. Then you'll feel a heap better."

Cherry threw her arms lovingly round his neck at these words. She felt utterly relieved. Her Ned was not so narrow-minded and selfish as she thought, after all! Thank goodness for that.

"Honey-boy, I love being your wife, and don't you ever think differently either no matter what anybody tells you. But I never realized that there'd be so little to occupy myself with here in Wellsburg. Maybe in a year or so I'll get used to it, like the rest of the wives, but right now I am so happy that you see things as I do, dear." And here she hugged him again.

"Well, there has to be a change in the old order sometime, just as Miss Bates said this morning when we were talking things over. Someone in the new generation has to start something. Be different, somewhat. And if it's you, Cherry, who has more than any wife could stand."

Cherry finished her toilette, Cherry got into a cool muslin dress, took a bath, and then went down onto the quiet side porch.

From here she could hear Aunt Phoebe singing happily to herself as she prepared the mid-day meal. Life was such a perpetual joy to her, Cherry reflected.

Some

ATTORNEYS CLASH IN BOOSE SUIT

Attempt Is Made By Counsel To Introduce Blood Test

PHYSICIAN IS WITNESS

Demand That Books of Boose & Son Be Produced

Taking of testimony in the contested alimony action of Mrs. Frances Robinson Boose against her husband, Roger E. Boose, was resumed in common pleas court here Monday, before Judge E. R. Eastman, Ottawa.

Boose testified that when his wife began feeling badly soon after their marriage, he sent her to Dr. A. I. Basinger, his physician.

Boose could not remember, on cross-examination by Attorney W. L. Mackenzie how often he had visited the physician. Dr. Basinger was called to the witness stand.

PHYSICIAN TESTIFIES
He provided an account sheet from his records, showing that from a period beginning April 22, 1929, Boose had visited him several times a week and frequently daily, for treatment. Dr. Basinger declared he could not remember what he told Mrs. Boose upon the occasion of her visits there. He said he found her in a highly nervous and apparently home-sick state and advised a visit home to her father and mother.

At this point counsel for Boose offered to introduce a Wasserman test of the blood and condition of Boose, just prior to his marriage.

"They have attacked us about these trips to the physician and we are going to introduce this as proof," Boose's attorney said.

"I protest. We didn't bring this blood business into this court," counsel for Mrs. Boose retorted.

Judge Eastman interrupted the attorneys in their verbal clash.

BOOKS ARE DEMANDED
Counsel for Mrs. Boose demanded that the books of John M. Boose & Son, of which Roger is a member, be produced, that it might be shown just what amount of money the young man earns monthly. Demand was also made that receipts be produced to show what Boose had paid in money to Dr. Basinger for professional services. Judge Eastman ordered that these records be produced.

Boose, upon taking the witness stand, acknowledged that he spent all day of the Saturday following the Thursday his wife returned to the home of her parents in Parkersburg, W. Va., in the offices of attorneys, in an endeavor to get matters in shape for any contest of the suit which she might bring.

He declared that his wife asked him how much money he would give her a month, if she would leave him. He said he told her he could not afford to settle more than $50 monthly upon her.

Trial will probably consume the remainder of Monday.

Judge Eastman will take all books and records, as well as typewritten testimony in the case, to his home in Ottawa, to review the case, before entering his decision.

2,000 AT OSTEOPATHIC MEETING IN CLEVELAND

CLEVELAND—Nearly two thousand delegates and visitors, including 600 women, are here to attend the twenty-fifth annual convention of the American Osteopathic association which opened this morning and continues thru the week.

Mayor W. S. Fitzgerald welcomed the delegates and Dr. Hugh Conklin responded. Dr. William E. Walder, president of the association, delivered the key note address at the morning session.

GORMAN FUNERAL

Funeral services for Timothy Gorman, late of 559 N. McDonald-st., who died Saturday, will be held Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock at St. Rose Catholic church. Instead of 8:30 o'clock. Interment will be in Gethsemani.

CHATS WITH YOUR GAS MAN

No matter how good our service is, there is usually one man in the block who is forever finding fault with it. You know the man we mean. He is a good fellow at heart and talks sanely enough upon other subjects, but when he discusses this company's service he loses his balance completely.

What we regret most, however, is not that this man is sour against us, but that his attacks are permitted to go unchallenged by his friends who are also our friends.

In other words, you and hundreds of other satisfied customers in the same neighborhood take good service for granted, accept it, and say nothing about it. Your silence thus becomes his golden opportunity. With lips sealed, you innocently give him an encouraging slap on the back.

We value your good will, everyone's good will. This company is your company, the public's company. Now let us work together to convert this man from a knocker into a booster.

LIMA NATURAL GAS CO.
LIMA GAS LIGHT CO.

AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT VICTIMS RECOVERING

D. E. Strayer of De Graff, who suffered a dislocated shoulder Friday night when an automobile in which he and his family were driving home, was hit by another car on the St. Johns road, is recovering here.

The remainder of the occupants of the machine were not seriously injured.

The Strayer family was brought back to Lima to the home of R. O. Bigley, W. Market-st., where they are awaiting recovery of the injured people.

AUTO WRECKED AS DRIVER DOZES

Two Injured In Crash Of Sidney Car Here

Two men driving an Allen car had a rude awakening in Lima Sunday morning at 7 o'clock, when their automobile struck a stone abutment on the N. West-st road, near the Shappell oil station.

Both men were thrown to the ground. One suffered a broken nose and the other an injured leg. They resumed their journey to Sidney from Lima by Interurban. Both said they were from Sidney, but did not give their names.

The car was reduced to junk. The men said they had been driving since early Saturday, having made a continuous trip, without rest, from La-Crosse, Wis. They declared they were exhausted when they reached here and may have fallen partly asleep before the car struck the obstruction.

The car bore license No. 163762. According to records at police headquarters, the car is owned by William Conant, Sidney. It is not known whether the car was driving the car or whether another person was in charge.

ADMITS CHARGE OF GUN TOTING

Booker Pleads Guilty—Five Deny Indictments

The only prisoner against whom indictment was returned by the grand jury, in extended session last week, who pleaded guilty when arraigned Monday, was Howard Booker. He was indicted for carrying concealed weapons. Sentence will be imposed at a later date.

Harry Healey, Walter Aldrich and Alvin Klingler, trio of young men indicted for larceny, in connection with the theft of automobiles, pleaded not guilty. Bond of each was set at $1,000. Healey waived reading of the indictment against him. Healey and Aldrich have secured legal counsel to defend them.

William J. Koontz, indicted for shooting with intent to kill L. C. Carr, from whom he had rented a room for lodging, also pleaded not guilty. Bond was set at $1,500.

Norman Fleming, indicted for larceny in connection with the theft of a horse and buggy, which he is charged with driving to Defiance to witness the Fourth of July celebration, pleaded not guilty. Bond was placed at $300.

Trial dates will be decided later.

CRITES DIVORCE SUIT OPENS

Hundreds Crowd Court Room—Boose Case In Judge's Office

When arguments of a Cleveland case became necessary in court of appeals room, Monday afternoon, the contested divorce case of Mary Crites against Robert Crites, was transferred to common pleas court room.

Presence of more than fifty witnesses in the Crites case, and hundreds of spectators filled the room. Mrs. Crites is seeking divorce, after her husband reduced her wages from one dollar a day, which he has paid for her more than three years, to $10 a month for her services.

The couple have lived together under the same roof, but not as husband and wife.

Crites owns a farm in Amadand and will fall heir to a large tract of land at the death of his aged mother, Mrs. Crites says.

The hearing will not be concluded Monday, because of the large number of witnesses to be called. On 23 F. C. Becker is hearing the case.

With the transfer of the Crites case to common pleas court room, resumption of the alimony hearing of Mrs. Frances Robinson Boose against Roger E. Boose was made in the small quarters of the judge's office on the third floor.

Interested spectators, many of whom were crowded out by transfer of the case, stood on chairs, Monday afternoon, to hear answers of Roger E. Boose while he was being subjected to a grilling at the hands of Mrs. Boose's attorney.

CHARGES OF SHOOTING WITHDRAWN BY BRUNETTO

Charges of shooting with intent to kill were withdrawn in Justice Ernest M. Botkins court Monday, against Tom Zimmo, 31, 115 E. Vine-st., and Fony Zimmo, 23, 112 W. Vine-st., by the father-in-law of Tom Zimmo.

The two were arrested Saturday night and lodged in jail. Angelo Brunetto, the father-in-law, claimed the two men shot at him. Brunetto resides on Lake-st.

MEN AND MATTERS.

A. C. Ruch, 162 E. Vine-st., is confined to his home with an attack of pleurisy.

Edward Bolger, 618 E. Market-st., is home from a six months' stay in Louisiana, where he was engaged in work in the oil fields.

DELPHOS SCHOOL TO BE REBUILT

Contract For $12,000 Improvement Awarded

AUTO MYSTERY IS SOLVED

Mrs. P. H. Kruttsch Dies At Delphos Home

DELPHOS—(Special.)—Improvements on the Franklin school building here, estimated to cost $12,000, will be started at once, according to decision of the board of education. Contracts were awarded to the Delphos Hardware Co., whose bids were 20 per cent lower than others.

Police Chief Oelberg solved the mystery of the car which was found on the road here when he looked up the license records in Van Wert co. He found the car's license plates were issued to W. B. Jones, of Van Wert. When he called on Mr. Jones the owner disclaimed the car until he was finally prevailed upon to search the garage, which was found empty. An empty revolver was found in the machine.

The sum of $20,000 additional funds for the construction of the Van Wert portion of the Wayne Highway, which was promised several weeks ago when a county committee held a conference with state officials, has been certified to the fund for the county. This information was received by the county commissioners in a dispatch from Leon C. Herrick, state highway commissioner.

Frank Brandelhoff, Ottorville young man and a star ball player, died Sunday at his home in that city as the result of an operation for appendicitis.

It was reported here Saturday that Herbert Kautz, of Lima, was dead. Investigation proved the report false, altho no hope is entertained for his recovery. He is the son of Mrs. William Kautz, formerly Bessie Peltier, of this city.

Mrs. P. H. Kruttsch, 53, of this city, died at her home here Saturday afternoon. She was ill for more than a year. Death was due to a complication of diseases.

Mary Woodruff was born in Toledo in 1868, and was a daughter of William and Anne Woodruff. She came to this city when a small child, and in 1888 was married to Elmer Hartshorn. One child was born to them, dying in infancy. In 1901 she was married to Patrick Kruttsch.

Surviving are the husband and two nieces, Miss Grace Hartshorn and Mrs. Roy Feathers.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Grafton, of this city, received a message Saturday from their son, Paul A., announcing his arrival in San Francisco from the Orient. He will visit here in the near future.

Grafton spent six years in the Orient. He first taught in Japan, where he was located in Yamaguchi Ken, where he was the only white among 20,000 people.

Mrs. Frank Beckman of this city suffered a painful injury Saturday when she fell and fractured a bone in her wrist.

A painful, tho not serious accident occurred Saturday when Carl Ebbeskotte, small son of Mrs. Eleanor Ebbeskotte, was badly burned from the knee down while cleaning grease from an automobile with gasoline at a blacksmith shop where he is employed.

The body of Harry E. Roll, who died of pneumonia while at the front in France, arrived in this city, en route to Willshire. It was transferred to the Clover Leaf and taken to his parents' home in Willshire, from where a military funeral was held Sunday.

NEW ROTARY PRESIDENT PRESIDES FIRST TIME

An ovation in welcome to President George E. Bayly on his return to a delegate to the international convention at Edinburgh, featured the luncheon of the Rotary club at the Norval, Monday noon.

President Bayly was elected in May, but departed for Europe before taking office and this was his first presiding day. A song festival and clever talk by A. W. Hutchins, representative of the United States Chamber of Commerce, were features of the day. Hutchins spoke on "The Measure of a Man," delivering a splendid talk, full of food for serious thought.

Other members of President Bayly's party arrived in New York on the Aquitania, Saturday. Ben P. Thomas, the banker, and Dr. T. R. Thomas, the surgeon, were joined there by their wives and will return during the week while Mr. and Mrs. John H. Hattenberg stopped off at Mansfield and will reach Lima Tuesday.

OIL TANK ACCIDENT VICTIM RECOVERING

Condition of Isaac A. Broderick, 723 Center-st., Illinois Pipe Line employee who suffered severe injuries when he fell 25 feet to the bottom of an oil tank south of Lima Saturday is recovering at the City hospital.

Amputation of the right arm will not be necessary, according to announcement from the hospital. The flesh was laid open, nearly to the bone the entire distance around the arm when it was caught by timbers as he fell.

LIMA MAN HEARS BILLY SUNDAY SPEAK AT WINONA

C. E. Strawbridge, city letter carrier, returned Sunday evening from Winona, Lake, Ind., where he attended a meeting, conducted by Rev. Billy Sunday. He reports that Sunday was the same man and enthusiasm characterized the evangelist when he conducted a campaign here ten years ago last spring.

H. A. P. J. J., who was with the party to Lima, is still with Sunday. It is estimated that 15,000 persons heard Billy Sunday speak at nearly every session.

BOARD PLANS DETAILS OF PRIMARY ELECTION TO BE HELD AUGUST 9

Preparations for the primary election two weeks hence are being made at the office of the election board. Supplies are being sent out to various precincts, not only in Lima, but to all places in Allen co. holding an election.

Outside of Delphos and Lima, nominations will be made by petition. Blanks for this purpose have been issued to those who call for them at the election board.

Ballots for absentee voters were sent out Monday, in response to an application for Delphos.

Owing to a dispute over the lease, the election board may move precinct polling place E in Third Ward from 209 S. Pine to another address. The property is said to belong to W. B. Eley, and is used for a grocery. Registration day, a woman in charge of the place sought to prevent the registrars from entering, stating that she was the lessee, it is stated. It was also found that the room is too small to accommodate election furniture.

Separate ballot boxes will be provided in each polling place. One box will be for city commissioners and the other for voters for justice, school board, constable and assessor.

BEELER IS AGAIN INDICTED

Embezzlement Charged to Former Shawnee-Tp School Clerk

Allie Beeler, former Shawnee-Tp farmer and clerk of the board of education of that township, was indicted for embezzlement by the April grand jury, in extended session, last week. Bond for Beeler was set at $5,000 by Judge Becker Monday.

Beeler was indicted by the former April grand jury, but owing to a clerical error in drawing the indictment, prosecuting Attorney Lippincott nollied the count against Beeler when he was arraigned some weeks ago and called the grand jury in special session to bring another indictment.

The prosecutor declared he would take no chances of legal counsel for Beeler finding a flaw in the indictment. Beeler says if the board is short in its funds, he did not receive it and that he does not know where the money went.

Beeler signed three notes when the alleged defalcations were discovered. Beeler secured an attorney and ordered the judgment opened. It was at that time the board of education laid the matter before the grand jury.

Beeler is now employed on the new construction work being done on the grounds at Shawnee Township club. The indictment against Beeler was one of three secret actions by the grand jury.

KIBBY-ST WORK IS NOT RESUMED

City Water Payment Order Holds Up Street Work

County commissioners Monday reiterated their statements made Saturday that no work will be done on E. Kibby-st paving as long as Service director Elmer McClain demands payment for city water used in boilers of steam roller.

McClain Saturday stated that he had demanded pay for the water because he could not do otherwise under the rules governing the department.

Solicitor H. E. Garling, when questioned concerning the matter Monday, refused to substantiate McClain's contention that he was required to charge for the water.

"I am not able to say," said the solicitor, "whether the city is obligated to collect for water used in this manner. The matter has never come up before and I would have to look it up to give an opinion."

"Work on the Kibby-st improvement is at a standstill," declared Glen L. Wallace, clerk of the board, Monday, "and it's going to be a hard matter to get the crew back on the job."

Wallace stated that there have been instances in the past where the county did work for the city and no charge was made for the water used.

County Surveyor E. A. Miller used had direct supervision of the Kibby-st job, was busy on other matters Monday morning. A representative of the state highway department, the commissioners, and Miller are going over plans for the Elida-rd. The state desires to commence work on this highway at once.

ACCIDENTS IN RODEO FORCE TROOP E INTO SECOND HONOR CLASS

Troop E of Lima won second honors at Camp Perry in the rodeo and drill held Saturday by the 1st Ohio Cavalry. First honors went to Troop K.

Troop E reached home Sunday after an all night ride from camp. Failure to load first honors is attributed to bad luck that several minor accidents during the rodeo or field day in the morning caused Lima to lose points, that otherwise would have been won.

WILL REMOVE CHINAMAN TO STATE HOSPITAL

Tom Pon, 113 E. North-st, Chinaman, adjudged insane on June 15, will be taken to the Toledo State hospital for treatment, Tuesday. Pon has been confined in the county jail here since the hearing.

Pon was not of native birth and it was necessary for Probate Judge J. H. Hamilton to communicate with the state board of administration, asking for special permission to admit the Chinaman to the state hospital. The permit reached Lima Monday.

Sheriff Baxter will take Pon to the asylum Tuesday.

GRASS FIRE DOES BIG DAMAGE

Evergreen Cemetery At Wapak Is Burned Over

FIRES ALONG R. R. TRACKS

Child Scalded When Vessel of Water Overturns

WAPAKONETA—(Special.)—Damage to the extent of several hundred dollars was occasioned to the old Evergreen cemetery, at the north edge of this city, when it was burned over, dried grass being fired from a H. & O. R. locomotive. The cemetery was long neglected, but this year a fund was subscribed and the grounds were placed in good condition.

Fires along the right of way of the B. & O. and the Western Ohio Railroad, north of this city, where the lines parallel, have occasioned quite heavy damage. At various places the fire communicated to grain fields.

Many members from this county will attend the gathering and picnic of the Northwestern Ohio Duroc association at the Putnam county fair grounds at Okawa, Thursday, August Kruse of this county is scheduled to speak. Charles F. Sprague, Lima, is president of the organization.

The death of Henry T. Reincke, his nephew, of Fryburg, brought Solvado Vaubel, an early settler of Angazee-co back to his old haunts. Mr. Vaubel, who makes his home in Minneapolis, left here 55 years ago during the Civil War and this is his second visit here since that time.

R. C. Haman of this city and Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Stayner of DeGraff were slightly injured when autos collided at a crossroads four miles east of here, Saturday.

The 18 months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Waid Wheeler was severely scalded Sunday morning at the family home here when a vessel of hot water was overturned onto the child's shoulder and arm.

Dorothy Eileen Brown, one year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Brown of Glynnwood, northwest of here, is dead.

The safety department here bought 500 feet of new hose upon recommendation of Fire Chief Voorhees, for the fire department.

A "Red Arrow Club" composed of members of the famous 32nd division of the World War, was organized here, as part of a national movement.

Angelaize Post, American Legion, will give a farmers' picnic at Johnson's grove Tuesday, August 16.

Don Voorhees of Lima was arrested and fined $15 and costs by Justice of the Peace Smith of Wayne-tp. He cleaned vaults of Waynesfield schools and deposited the contents on farm of Floyd Gould, who filed an affidavit against him.

TRAIN RIDER FINED, ORDERED TO VAMOOSE

Edward Haymire, 25, residence any old place he hangs his hat, was given a fine of $5 and costs and five minutes in which to get out of town, by Justice Ernest M. Botkin, Monday.

Haymire was arrested by Detective Rosen of the Erie railroad, charged with train-riding. He had no money.

Rather than lock him up in jail, the court imposed a small fine and gave him a sentence to shake the dust from his feet of Lima without further notice.

NEW EVENTS PLANNED FOR LIMA PLAYGROUNDS

Reed work and basketmaking is to be the feature of Lima playground activities this week. Superfluous study in the making of trays, flower baskets, etc., will be given to those interested in the work.

The work is under the direction of Miss Townsend at McCullough park, Miss Wells at Lincoln park, Miss Williams at City park and Miss Satter at the Whittier play ground. All girls have had experience in the work. Fred Wallace, director of playgrounds, is planning many new events for the remainder of the summer. The playgrounds have excellent equipment this year and a great deal of good work is being done.

DAUGHTER FOR PERKINS

Word has been received from San Francisco announcing the birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Perkins, Sunday. Mrs. Perkins, before her marriage was Miss Margaret Warner, a former resident of this city and a niece of Mr. and Mrs. George Vicary, W. Market-st.

HENRY KELLER FINED $100 ON CHARGE OF TRANSPORTING LIQUOR

Henry Keller, former proprietor of a soft drink cafe here, was up for trial in Justice Ernest M. Botkin's court, Monday, on two charges, to which he had previously pleaded not guilty.

Keller waived examination and was bound over to the grand jury on a charge of driving an automobile, while in a state of intoxication on July 20, on W. Elm-st. He was released on $100 bond, filed by his father, Peter Keller.

Keller changed his plea of not guilty to guilty on the charge of transporting liquor and was fined $100 and costs, the latter amounting to $4.58.

Like charges filed against John Harms, Keller's former bar tender, who was with him at the time of arrest, were withdrawn.

MERCHANTS PLAN TRADE SHOW

Fall Event To Eclipse Previous Efforts—Dollar Day

Plans for a Fall trade show, to be held during September, which will eclipse anything heretofore held in Lima, will be discussed by members of the Merchants' association at a dinner at the Argonne Tuesday night.

The affair is to be for all lines of trade and not confined to mercantile houses, as is the case with so-called style shows. At present the exhibition is being called a trade show, but another title may be picked at Tuesday's meeting.

In planning the show, the merchants who have been interested believed it best to get away from the old hackneyed style show confined only to clothing lines. The trade show will not only include all the features of a style show, but furniture, dealers, stove men, music dealers, jewelers and others will participate.

Each merchant will have his own exhibit in his own store, according to present plans.

Dollar Day will be observed as usual, it was announced Monday, on the last Wednesday in August.

NOW WOMEN CHOSEN FOR JURORS

Commission Selects 500 Names of Men For Jury Wheel

There will be no woman juror in Allen-co next year.

The jury commission, which has just completed its work of selecting 500 names of persons who will serve upon juries the remainder of the year and next, have completed their work. There are no women upon the list.

One of the last acts of Ira F. Clem, county clerk of courts, before relinquishing his office Saturday, will be to place the names of these jurors in the wheel.

Judge F. C. Becker and Sheriff Charles W. Baxter will be present, according to law, when names are inserted in the wheel.

These three officials are required to be present, also, when names are drawn for jury service.

The jury commission consist of J. B. Sunderland, Amanda-tp, and Clarence English, Lima.

On account of conditions at the court house not being such as to provide proper accommodations for women jurors, the jury commission decided against placing names of women in the jury wheel.

HARASSING OFFICER IS CHARGED TO FULLERTON

J. W. Fullerton, charged by George Landfair of the Lima police department, with harassing and annoying him, will be tried Wednesday afternoon in police court before Judge Jackson.

Fullerton, who is supposed to have treated Landfair for some illness, is accused of annoying Landfair because Landfair failed to pay him a certain sum of money. Landfair refuses to pay more because, he claims, Fullerton failed to cure him. Fullerton cannot issue a bill under the law, because he is not a legal physician, police say.

Word has been received from San Francisco announcing the birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Perkins, Sunday. Mrs. Perkins, before her marriage was Miss Margaret Warner, a former resident of this city and a niece of Mr. and Mrs. George Vicary, W. Market-st.

SOX CONFESSION REPUDIATED

Cicotte Tells Court He Was Promised Immunity

DENIES FORMER TESTIMONY

"Shoeless Joe" Jackson Takes The Witness Stand

CHICAGO—(By United Press)—Eddie Cicotte, outlawed pitching ace for the Chicago White Sox, repudiated his confession of selling out to gamblers today.

Eddie, once the finest of the White Sox stated he confessed to his part of "throwing" the 1919 world series after he was promised immunity by the state.

The pitcher is one of the seven Black Sox charged with conspiracy to throw the championship games.

Cicotte, according to testimony already given at the trial, said he would lose the first game to Cincinnati if he had "to throw the ball over the fence."

His testimony was taken while the jury was excused, and the court was considering whether or not to admit confessions made by Cicotte, Jackson and Williams.

"Attorneys Austrian and Replogle told me to come clean and tell what I knew and they would free me," Cicotte said.

"They said to me: 'This is going to be a long trial. You don't want your wife and babies to suffer while you are in the penitentiary do you?'"

"I confessed, and when I was in the grand jury room, Judge McDonald said: 'Go ahead and indict him.'"

"I protested and said I had been promised freedom. The judge shouted: 'What are you trying to do?'"

"Fullerton asked me to step out of the room and when I came back I was indicted."

State's Attorney Gorman then cross-examined the pitching ace.

"I will show this man was panic stricken and ran to the grand jury to confess," said Gorman.

"Didn't you cry and say you wanted to tell all you knew?" Gorman asked.

"No," said Cicotte.

"Didn't you read all about the ball scandal in the papers and spill everything of your own free will?"

CINDERELLA TODAY

By RUBY M. AYERS

The lights thru the trees turned out to be Farmer Smee's trap on the way back from Marley. He pulled up sharply when Pauline darted out into the road.

Would he wouldn't he be a good Samaritan and turn back and take them with him?

Stanford came forward.

"We lost the last train from the village. If you will be so kind as to take this lady on to Marley I shall be only too pleased if you will allow me to go."

Pauline struck in. "He's lame—only just been invalided out of the army. 'Yes, I shall tell him,' as Stanford tried to stop her. 'Please, please, Mr. Smee if you'll give Capt. Stanford a lift—I don't mind the walk.'"

A watering smile suddenly crossed the old man's weather-beaten features.

"Climb in, both of you," he said affably. "I'm too old for this war, or I'd have gone with the first of them. But it shan't ever be said that I drove home in comfort and left a brave man to walk five miles on a bitter night like this. Jump in, jump in, missy."

"You'd best take the back seat, both of you," he said. "I've got a load of parcels up here beside me. There's some straw for your feet and you can have my rug."

"We will get out at the station, and you must go on," Stanford said. "You'd better run; I don't like the idea of your going thru the village alone, but I don't suppose it can't be helped."

"Nobody will run away with me," said Pauline, serenely.

"I wonder if Cynthia had such a good time as we have," Pauline said suddenly.

"I hope so," Stanford answered. She turned amazed eyes towards him.

"You hope so?" she echoed helplessly. Capt. Stanford, why do people get engaged to people if they don't love them? They don't love to."

"No, I know they don't. A man may be lonely, desperately lonely, and perhaps a woman comes along who is . . . well, nice to him and he likes her and admires her and one day he wakes up and finds that he has bought a diamond ring and given it to her, and there you are!"

No answer.

"The other day," Stanford said presently, "when you told me about your sister and the . . . p. g."

you said that they would be so rich that it wouldn't matter much if they cared for each other or not."

"Yes, but I didn't know then that you were the p. g.," said Pauline.

He could see the lights of Marley away in the distance, and he knew that the drive was nearing the end. Old Smee half turned in his seat.

"What part of Marley was you wanting, sir?"

Stanford roused himself with a start.

"Put us down at the station," he said. "Just this side of the station will do."

And in another moment the trap was at a standstill, and he and Pauline had clambered down.

"And now I suppose I must run," she said.

"Good-night. . . . I hope you're not very tired."

"It's been the happiest day of my life," said Stanford.

Pauline held out her hand. "Good-night," she said again.

He took her hand in his, then bent and kissed it.

"Good-night," he said abruptly, and turned away toward the station.

"You're not in bed? I'm so glad. I want to speak to you," Mrs. Boulton came in and closed the door with an air of mystery. "Pauline," she said agitatedly, "do you know where Cynthia is?"

Pauline stared.

"Cynthia!" she echoed, blankly.

"No, of course I don't. I haven't seen her since breakfast. I thought she'd gone to town—to the dress-makers," she added.

Mrs. Boulton looked round the room nervously.

"I know—so she did! But I thought . . . She hasn't come back yet and I'm so worried. There was a real anxiety in her voice."

"But I thought—" began Pauline. "I thought you told me she had gone to bed with a headache."

"I did—I know I did. I've told Capt. Stanford the same thing. But she hasn't come in, Pauline, and there are no more trains from London!"

Pauline sat down heavily on the side of the bed. Supposing Cynthia had run away with Rodney Langton?

Mrs. Boulton regarded her step-daughter.

"Can't you see? Don't you understand," she asked, in a trembling voice. "If Cynthia has done anything foolish . . . if Rodney Langton has persuaded her to go off and marry him, can't you see what it will mean to all of us? I shall be ruined and disgraced. It will break Capt. Stanford's heart."

Pauline had risen to her feet.

"What do you want me to do?" she asked.

"I don't want you to do anything; but if you would just keep awake and listen, in case she comes in. I haven't given up hope yet. People do lose trains, you know."

"Yes," said Pauline sympathetically, a little ghost of a smile in her eyes. "Yes, I know they do."

"And she may have been able to get a taxi down, or some sort of conveyance."

"I'll do my best to keep awake," said Pauline.

"And whatever you do, whatever happens," Mrs. Boulton enjoined her, "for heaven's sake not one word of this to Capt. Stanford."

"No," said Pauline.

Pauline yawned and rubbed her eyes; looking across at an alarm clock on the narrow mantel-shelf; it was nearly 1 o'clock.

Pauline thought she heard a voice.

"Pauline!" It was Cynthia's voice, down there in the garden.

Pauline was out of the room and down the stairs like a flash; her light footsteps made no sound. She drew back the bolts of the front door with trembling hands, and saw Cynthia there on the doorstep.

"Oh, I'm so glad! You must be frozen! I'll get you something hot to drink."

Pauline pushed open the library door.

The dying embers of a fire still filled the grate; she went on her knees and coaxed them to a flicker. Cynthia had followed her into the room.

"There'll be quite a decent fire in a minute," Pauline said hopefully. Then she turned, and for the first time the two girls looked at one another. Pauline held out her hands with a stifled cry of pity.

"Oh, what's the matter?" Her step-sister's beautiful face was blurred with tears, pale and pitiful.

Pauline's arms were round her shoulder.

"Oh, don't cry, don't cry! Capt. Stanford will hear if you do! His stars! How cold you are!" She started to her feet. "I'll make some hot coffee. . . . She found her way into the kitchen and lit a gas jet. Presently she came back with a steaming cup of it and some thin bread and butter.

She stood up and made Cynthia drink the coffee, then she spoke timidly.

"Do come to bed. You must be worn out."

For a moment Cynthia sobbed broken-heartedly, her head against Pauline's shoulder. Then with a gesture of repulsion she pushed her away.

"It's your fault! I didn't want to cry! I hate crying. . . . she rose to her feet and began pacing up and down the room. "I suppose you're thinking horrid things about me," she said. "But there's nothing. I had dinner in town with a friend. . . . He's going back to France soon, so you need not be shocked!"

She turned her wild eyes on Pauline with a sort of scorn. "So it's all over, anyway. . . . I came home on the last train. . . . I saw . . . Capt. Stanford at the station, and . . . I didn't want to see him! That's all! I've just been walking about—walking about—ever since . . . She stopped and drew a long breath.

"I only waited up in case you came in late," said Pauline. "Mrs. Boulton was anxious—and so . . . oh, do come to bed!" she added.

Cynthia wiped her eyes.

"I wish I could sleep and never wake up again," she said, with dull weariness; then she laughed.

"Oh, what a fool I am—what a fool! As if it matters—any of it! Poor little Pauline! You must think I'm mad. You're such a child!"

"I'm not such a child," said Pauline, resentfully. "I'm twenty."

But Cynthia seemed not to hear; she went out of the room and upstairs.

Pauline moved then. She took the tray to the kitchen and turned out the lights; then she went back to the library, and kneeling down on the rug, took up all the tongs and carefully removed all the pieces of coal that were not yet thoroughly burnt thru— they would do for the morning.

Then she turned the rug back and had turned to go, when she noticed that the lid of a desk in the window was wide open and that some papers had tumbled from inside to the floor.

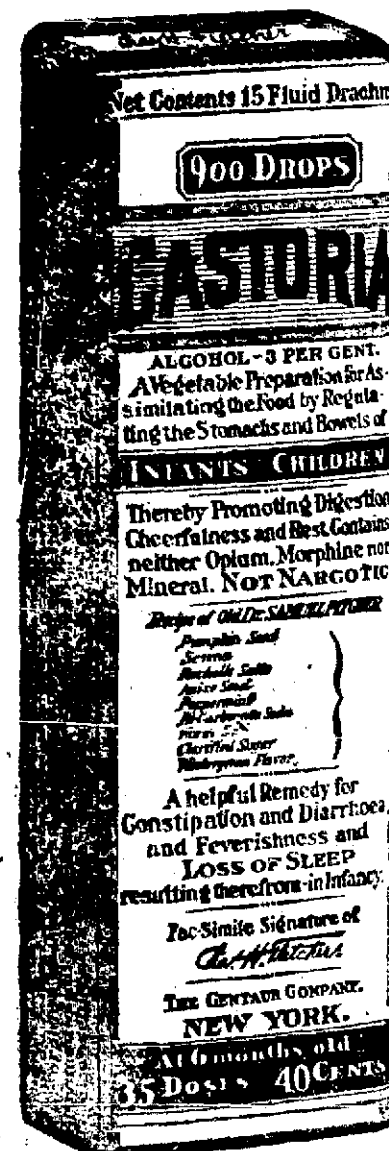

She went across to it, picked them up and was returning them to a drawer when the door behind her opened, and Stanford walked in. Pauline gave a little startled cry

Why Castoria?

YEARS ago Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups were the remedies in common use for Infants and Children; Castor Oil so nauseating as to be almost impossible and the others all containing Opium in one form or another, but so disguised as to make them pleasant to the taste, yet really to stupify the child and give the appearance of relief from pain.

It required years of research to find a purely vegetable combination that would take the place of these disagreeable, unpleasant and vicious remedies that from habit had become almost universal. This was the inception of, and the reason for, the introduction of Fletcher's Castoria, and for over 30 years it has proven its worth, received the praise of Physicians everywhere and become a household word among mothers.

A remedy ESPECIALLY prepared for Infants and Children and no mother would think of giving to her baby a remedy that she would use for herself, without consulting a physician.

Exact Copy of Wrapper.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

Have You Tried It?

Everybody has read the above headline; how many believe it? Have you a little-one in the home, and has that dear little nife when its stomach was not just right felt the comforts that come with the use of Fletcher's Castoria? You have heard the cry of pain. Have you heard them cry for Fletcher's Castoria? Try it.

Just help baby out of its trouble tomorrow with a taste of Castoria. Watch the difference in the tone of the cry, the look in the eye, the wiggle in the tiny fingers. The transformation is complete—from pain to pleasure. Try it.

You'll find a wonderful lot of information about Baby in the booklet that is wrapped around every bottle of Fletcher's Castoria.

GENUINE CASTORIA ALWAYS

Bears the Signature of

Chas. H. Fletcher

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

"Smooth as a baby's skin"

Why not? There are too few years between youth and babyhood to work noticeable changes in a young girl's skin. And a fresh, smooth complexion keeps its beauty long after girlhood's days have passed.

Learn how to take care of your skin, find out what it needs and your complexion will soon merit this compliment. The roughness, the little blemishes, the coarseness of texture which many girls try to cover up with powder can be transformed into alluring freshness and delicacy.

What every complexion needs

Once every day your skin must be gently but thoroughly cleansed from all accumulations of dirt, perspiration and excess oil secretions.

Powder and rouge must be removed, traces of cold cream washed away. Every tiny pore must be freed from clogging accumulations so that the network of minute glands can do their necessary work.

Neglect this daily cleansing, or depend upon cold cream alone, and dirt, oil, perspiration, powder, rouge and the cream itself combine in an impervious coat which smothers your natural complexion.

The result is sluggishness which soon results in a lifeless, sallow skin. Blackheads develop, dirt infections produce pimples, the filled up pores enlarge into unattractive coarseness.

Volume and efficiency produce 25-cent quality for

10c

Such a skin is a disfigurement which cosmetics can't conceal. Simple cleansing once a day will quickly cure it.

You must use soap and water

There is no other safe, quick, satisfactory cleanser.

Mild soap, of course, balmy and soothing, which means Palmolive Soap. Its profuse creamy lather is the scientific blend of palm and olive oils, the mild gentle cleansers Cleopatra used.

If your skin is oily apply this cosmetic lather without preparation, massaging it thoroughly into every tiny skin cell until not a trace of foreign matter remains.

If your skin is inclined to dryness apply a little cold cream before you start cleansing. This keeps the most sensitive skin delightfully soft and smooth.

Enormous volume reduces price

If we made Palmolive in small quantities the price would be high. Palm and olive oils are costly ingredients—they come from overseas. We import them in such vast quantity that the price is much reduced.

The Palmolive factories work day and night to supply the enormous and ever growing demand. This reduces manufacturing cost.

Result, the finest facial soap modern science, employing an ancient beauty secret, can produce, at the price of ordinary soap. Palmolive, everywhere, costs only 10 cents a cake.

THE PALMOLIVE COMPANY
MILWAUKEE, U. S. A.
THE PALMOLIVE COMPANY OF CANADA, Limited
TORONTO, ONT.
Also makers of a complete line of toilet articles

and dropped the papers helplessly.

"Oh," she said, "you did startle me!"

Stanford came a step further into the room.

"I heard some one moving about. I thought it might be burglars, so I came down." His eyes searched her flushed face. "Is there anything the matter?" he asked, anxiously.

"No. There's nothing the matter," she said. "I came down for a book, that's all, and the desk was open, and some papers had fallen out, so I picked them up."

"And dropped them again, of course," he said smiling.

Pauline smiled, too.

"Anyway, there wasn't a burglar," she said. "Her eyes sought his interestedly. 'What would you have done if there had been?' she asked. Stanford shrugged his shoulders.

"I don't know—hid him out if I'd have had a chance."

"Yes," said Pauline, admiringly. "I bet you would, too. . . . Well—good-night!"

"Good-night!" Pauline fled upstairs, tumbled into bed, and was asleep in five minutes.

(To Be Continued)

PATTERN FOR TODAY

A COMFORTABLE UNDER GARMENT

Pattern 3681 is shown in this model. It is cut in 6 sizes: 4, 6, 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. A 19 year size will require 2½ yards of 36 inch material.

Long cloth, cambric, muslin, lawn, crepe, and outing flannel could be used for this design.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10c in silver or stamps.

Name

Number

Town

Pattern No. Size

Address Pattern Department, The Lima News, Lima, Ohio.

CYLINDER RE-GRINDING
Bushings, Pins, Rings, Pistons
We guarantee all workmanship and materials. Demand our service from you.
G. E. BROS.

MULLENHOUR BROS.

A WIFE IN THE MAKING

By PHYLIS PHILLIPS

Cherry stayed in her room most of the morning. She had a severe headache and was suffering from a bad reaction.

It was not until near lunch time that she dragged herself up from her bed and over to the dressing table. With languid hands she brushed out her long hair, staring at herself as she did so. "There were dark shadows under her eyes which told their own story. The events of the last day or so had been more than any wife could stand.

Having finished her toilette, Cherry got into a cool muslin dress and then vent down onto the quiet side porch.

From here she could hear Aunt Phoebe singing happily to herself as she prepared the mid-day meal. Life was such a perpetual joy to her, Cherry reflected.

Some few minutes later she heard Ned come up the front path, enter the house and call her name. Then, at getting no response, he bounded up to his room, and not finding his wife there came down again.

"Here, Ned, here," called Cherry, inwardly dreading the inevitable conflict.

To her surprise, Ned kissed her as affectionately as ever, just as if there had been no scene at the table that morning.

"Well, lady-bird, how are you now?" he questioned. "My little girl has dark lines under her eyes. What has she been doing, I wonder?" was his next remark.

"Had a bad headache all morning, Ned, dear. It's not quite gone even now. But then I ate so little breakfast, and I was so upset that—"

"Now, now, darling, don't begin all over about that nonsense. I've thought it all over, and if you really feel the way you do say you do about things, why you go ahead and take your position at Hamlet's."

"I wasn't really thinking about my own side in the case when I quarreled with you about it—it was for mother's. However, you're quite right. You did not marry my family, little girl. And they have no right to dictate to you as to what you shall or shall not do. I'll speak to mother alone later on. So don't you worry any more about anything. Just smile at your naughty boy, and come in and get a good luncheon. Then you'll feel a heap better."

Cherry threw her arms lovingly round his neck at these words. She felt unutterably relieved. Her Ned was not so narrow-minded and selfish as she thought, after all! Thank goodness for that.

"Honey-boy, I love being your wife, and don't you ever think differently either no matter what anybody tells you. But I never realized that there'd be so little to occupy myself with here in Wollsburg. Maybe in a year or so I'll get used to it, like the rest of the wives, but right now I am so happy that you see things as I do, dear."

And here she hugged him again.

"Well, there has to be a change in the old order sometime, just as Miss Bates said this morning when we were talking things over. Someone in the new generation has to start something. Be different, somehow. And if it's you, Cherry, why let's you. There's no use my putting obstacles in your way, either."

"When you and Miss Bates talked things over," repeated Cherry slowly.

"Why, yes, she had read the news in 'The Leader,' and of course wanted to know if it was true and all about it. At first I couldn't say anything. I was still so upset about it all, but after a while she told me she thought it was a splendid idea for you. That lots of women folks weren't cut out to be just wives and maybe you were one of them. That riled me for a minute, but I didn't let her see it."

"Cat," thought Cherry to herself. "Femal cat. I knew there was something queer about that girl."

Then, aloud to Ned, she said:

"I just told you I was happy to be your wife, dear, no matter what anyone said. And you must believe me, Ned. But my longing to work is a part of myself, too. Maybe it will pass. But love me and let me try it out now, dear boy, in spite of all—please."

(To be continued)

Feel Weak, Tired, "All Played Out?"

Does the least exertion tire you out? Do you feel "blue" and worried, suffer dragging backache, headaches and dizziness? Too many women blame so-called "female trouble" for this unhappy state. Instead of weak kidneys, which so often are the cause. You must act quickly to prevent more serious trouble. Use Doan's Kidney Pills. They have helped thousands of weak, tired women. They should help you. Ask your neighbor!

A Case in Lima

Mrs. H. E. Simpson, 625 E. Kirby St., says: "I had a dragging ache to my back and was so lame I could hardly get up or down. My kidneys acted so frequently. Afterwards I felt more tired than before going to bed, and I was often bothered with dizziness. I tried different remedies without relief but when I used Doan's Kidney Pills the trouble left."—Adv.

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

60¢ at all Drug Stores
Foster-Pillman Co., Mfg. Chem. Buffalo, N.Y.

MONEY TO LOAN

At lowest rates on real or personal property.
Any amount, straight time or monthly payments.

THE SHAWNEE FINANCE CO.
OPERATED BY LIMA BUSINESS MEN
120 W. HIGH ST. TEL. MAIN 2337

By mail, one year $5.
out of the city by carrier 15c per week.

The Lima News

AND TIMES-DEMOCRAT
PUBLISHED EVERY DAY IN THE NEWS BUILDING, 121 E. HIGH STREET
BY THE NEWS PUBLISHING COMPANY

EDITORIAL PAGE—LIMA NEWS & TIMES-DEMOCRAT

"ASSIMILATING" OUR ALIEN IMMIGRANTS

Entered at postoffice at Lima as second class mail matter.

PAGE JUDGE LANDIS

AN incident in connection with the elevation of William Howard Taft to the position of Chief Justice of the Supreme court of the United States, ought to be of interest to Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, a Federal judge and supreme arbiter of baseball, with a combined salary of $50,000 a year from both sources.

Before being elevated to the position of Chief Justice, ex-President Taft contributed to the editorial pages of the Brooklyn Eagle, the Philadelphia Public Ledger and other papers. After accepting the high office tendered him, Judge Taft announced his inability to continue contributions to the papers he served.

He held to the view that such writing would draw him into political discussion, not in harmony with the proprieties of judicial service. "A judge should avoid," the Chief Justice said, "extra-judicial activities, not only because they may put him in an attitude actually or seemingly inconsistent with absolute impartiality in the discharge of his official duties, but also because he owes his whole time and energy to his judicial work."

It is quite easy to agree with Judge Taft that the earning of a big salary from a private interest, as in the case of Judge Landis, is incompatible with one's duties as a United States judge. Since congress has so far neglected to make such a procedure legally impossible as well as morally wrong, there's no use worrying over the Judge Landis case so long as he feels that he has nothing on his conscience.

But the attention of the $50,000 a year celebrity is directed to Judge Taft's action in blazing the trail.

WHAT OF IRELAND?

THAT negotiations between English and Irish leaders toward peace are making progress is the word that is received from London. With the departure of Eamon DeValera, President of the Irish Republic, from London for Dublin, bearing with him an outline of terms of peace submitted by Premier Lloyd George of Great Britain, the center of interest in the affairs of Ireland is transferred from London to Dublin.

English and Irish leaders are desirous of lasting peace. There is no question about that. The proposals of Lloyd George will be laid before the Dail Eireann as well as other prominent Irish Republicans, for consideration. Later it is expected that DeValera will return to London for further conversation.

The President of the Irish Republic feels that although the immediate future is uncertain, he has confidence that ultimately Ireland will win what it is contending for. The feeling in Ireland is strong for a resumption of fighting until the cause is won, if peace negotiations now in progress fail.

PUBLIC HONESTY

INNOVATIONS are the order of the day. A Hornell, New York, movie theatre proprietor, investigating the result of the application of the honor principle in the conduct of cigar and candy business in clubs, was impelled to put to the test his faith in humanity generally.

He inaugurated a new policy. The doors of his theatre were thrown open to the public, admittance free. There are no ticket sellers in the box office or ticket takers in the lobby. After viewing the show, if they are satisfied, the patrons walk to the door where a box is placed with a slot in it and drop 30 cents in it.

There is no attendant to stop patrons if they don't drop the money in the box. There is a girl in a little booth just inside the lobby to provide change for patrons who want the correct amount. The manager states that practically all of the theatre patrons pay. Those who do not are the ones dissatisfied with the show.

SOMETHING WRONG

NEWSPAPERS have been teeming with details of the elopement of the wife of the pastor of a church at Monticello, N. Y., leaving her husband to go away with another man, although she had attained life's middle age, is the mother of children and the man with whom she eloped is much younger than she.

She has returned and forgiveness is refused by the husband. But that isn't the story. There was something wrong with his head or his foolish notions which he described as religious tenets, or he would not have permitted his wife to leave in the first place. At least he would have endeavored to prevent it.

But instead, he interposed no objection, merely stating that if his wife and the mother of his children felt that way about it, he presumed it was her duty to go. His action, he said, was according to his religious belief.

If that is true, he ought to change his religion or revamp the one he professes. The old saying that "one is born every minute" still holds good.

KATYDIDS AND FROST

WEATHERWISE folks in goodly numbers profess to believe implicitly that within six weeks after the locusts and katydids make their initial appearance and start their wing rubbing concert, there will be frost.

Old rural weather prognosticators will tell you that and they believe in it. If true, this section is booked for frost within a few weeks, as the locusts and "dids" have been with us a week or two at least.

SHORT ONES

THERE is always room at the top of the tree for the finest, big, red peach.

ONE enjoyable thing about being poor is that one is not pestered by fake stock salesmen.

THE fact that the water supply of Paris is contaminated is not worrying American tourists.

OCCASIONALLY you run across a fellow who can take a 4-cent idea and run it up to $4,990.

IT is said that the Versailles treaty cannot be found in the White House. Certainly not. It was lost in the Senate.

TIMES must be hard on Wall-st. At the last sale of a seat on the Stock Exchange it brought only $82,660, a decrease of $3,000 over the last previous sale.

"MEN look only for beauty," wails a homely girl. Yes, she probably is right. But if there is any beauty it can be found for little is covered up nowadays.

AS one sees restaurant habitués wrestling with a chunk of watermelon, endeavoring to successfully extract the pesky seeds with a fork, the thought is impelled that a Luther Burbank should perfect the seedless melon.

LIMA kiddies don't need to go to the pleasure park to "bump the bumps." A coaster wagon used most anywhere on the Main-st. pavement, particularly where the street car tracks are located, will afford all the necessary thrills.

IT isn't true that all women are flighty. This was proved at Main and High-sts the other day when a woman, crossing the street, was stopped by a street car and actually stood still when a rapidly moving fire truck turned off High into Main, the wheels almost brushing her skirts.

BLUE LAW FANATICISM

EVER hear of anyone being arrested for whistling? Eureka, Calif., didn't until Miss Janet Sunter of that place was haled into court.

She admitted it, but she wasn't fined. The judge had too much common sense. George Meaken, a stranger in the town, heard her and, misinterpreting the promptings of a sunny disposition, reported to the police that she was out of her head or was trying to flirt with him.

The Eureka case smacks of the comic man's idea of the "blue law" regime. It's almost as silly as the case of the Ohio mayor who wanted a couple arrested because the girl sat on a young man's lap.

AS YOU LIKE IT

OLD SCISSORS SAYS:

Of course, in one way, the city can't be blamed for not giving away water. There is a big demand for it now that the hot weather has caused a shortage in home brew stocks.

A LITTLE SLICE O' LIFE.

We are anxiously awaiting the arrival of Mrs. Smith-Wilkinson, the lady who spent five millions in Paris in three weeks. She's coming to this country with fifty young women maids, a private yacht of her own and two solid gold bathtubs. She will also bring her husband, but he is a mere incidental. She is coming here to show Americans how to spend money. We wish her all success in this laudable enterprise. That it can be done. Others have tried it and have failed. Spending money is no way to startle this country, where practically everybody spends All that he earns.

A SONG

Night—and the eternal stars
Signaling the peace of God Unto blind eyes.
Night—and the eternal winds
Whispering the love of God
Into dull ears.

A million years ago,
I stay on this same mound
Listening the Divine call,
Watching the heaven's sign
A million years to come,
I shall still hear and read
The message of divinity
Because I am that I am—
Because I am what I am.
—William Bradford Dickson.

Music elevates the soul and soothes the tired body. It creates forgetfulness and it inspires the nobler side of life. Where there is music, you will often find contentment. It stimulates the soul and it consoles the weary. Religious, pleasure seeking, sentimental and grief-stricken are benefited by music. It intoxicates and depresses. Civilization all over the world listens to music of some sort or other. It is relative to the environment. It is affected by climatic conditions. It can elevate one to the highest form of life.

Let me state right here that the so-called popular music is as great as the so-called classical brand. All is relative.

There is said to be a scarcity of chorus girls. This will be a blow to the brokers.

MISS LIMA: "Girls nowadays may be as glib as they were 25 years ago, but they are much easier to see thru."

JUST FOLKS—BY EDGAR A. GUEST

Life is not strife for gold
Nor medalled fame,
Its years in joys are told—
The hearth fire's flame,
The roses nodding in the sun,
The children's happy feet,
Some little duty done,
A pleasure fleet.

Life is the joy of friends
And birds and trees,
The notes the lover sends,
Old memories,
Neighbors and sunny skies,
And little trips to make,
Tears when a loved one dies
And hearts that ache.

Life is a sum of things,
Laughter and cheery days,
Hope which the morning brings,
The future's rosier ways,
Faith when the clouds are gray,
Grief when the shadows fall;
So we must go our way
Knowing them all.

Life is no narrow span
Flung twixt a goal,
It is a mighty plan
Shaping the soul;
All that the eye can see,
All that the heart can feel,
All that can ever be,
Turns on life's wheel.

(Copyright, 1921.)

TODAY'S HEALTH HINTS

By William Brady, M. D.

Besides being bitten by mosquitoes, pestered by flies, chased by the cows, bitten by the dog, snubbed, poisoned with ivy, infected by drinking polluted water and perhaps ferociously attacked by a wild rabbit, there is still the chance of being bitten by a snake while on a vacation.

Venomous snakes (rattle-snake, copperhead, moccasin) in this country are pit-vipers, that is, they have a depression or pit over the lip between the eye and the nostril; have triangular heads, with wide, massive jaws (great muscular development of the jaws); elliptical pupils, and bodies comparatively thick in proportion to length. Harmless snakes have round heads, no pits, round pupils, and bodies comparatively slender. Harmless snakes should not be killed, for they are destroyers of field vermin, and some of them, such as the black snake and bullsnake, will destroy venomous snakes. Venomous snakes are never found in or on trees. The forked tongue of a snake is a diagnostic implement, not a weapon. The poisonous snakes have two fangs attached to the upper jaw, and hinged so that ordinarily they lie horizontally against the upper jaw pointing backward; they are erected to point downward and slightly forward when the snake is angered or about to strike. Thru the fangs the venom or poison is injected from the venom sacs into the wound, on the principle of the hypodermic needle.

A snake can strike something less than his own length, never more than his own length. Snakebites are by no means so frequently fatal as popularly imagined. Only rarely is the outcome of a venomous reptile's bite fatal to a human being. The venom is a paralyzant in effect on the nervous system, used by a sluggish reptile in securing prey. If the snake has already bitten prey within a few hours, the second bite is likely to prove almost innocuous, for it takes many hours to reproduce venom once the poison sacs have been emptied.

Little pain is felt by the victim of a snakebite, at least until the swelling of the part begins. After a few hours in severe cases general weakness, cold sweating, faintness and labored breathing develop, and in from 24 to 36 hours, as a rule, recovery is well under way. In rare cases of extreme poisoning, delirium or coma (unconsciousness) supervenes and death follows within a few days. But in nine cases out of ten snakebite proves a comparatively minor injury.

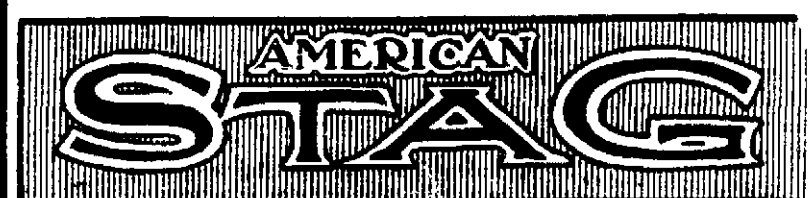

The first aid in snakebite is vigorous sucking of the wound, by the victim or by another person. This involves no risk for the person sucking the wound, as the venom is not poisonous thru the mouth. After a minute of this the flesh should be cut freely open, about half an inch deep and an inch long, cross-wise, to promote bleeding. Or if the skin of the bitten part can be raised with the fingers, clip it out with scissors. Injection of a solution of five grains of potassium permanganate in an ounce of water, by hypodermic syringe, into the bitten part, is a good remedy if available. Besides cutting into and sucking the wound, it is well to bind the arm or leg tightly with a handkerchief above the wound, and give stimulants such as strong coffee or aromatic spirits of ammonia if the patient becomes faint, drowsy or weak.

ABE MARTIN

We've met folks that wuz dyspeptic, wealthy an' sour, but we've never knowed anybody that wuz wealthy an' wise that had any health. Anyhow, bathin' suits are less 'n one-half o' what they wuz before th' war.

The Best Bet

Next Time Ask for

CIGARS

At Your Favorite Cigar Counter

THE DEISEL-WEMMER CO.

Mfgs.

Lima

Ohio

HILDEBRANDT SAY IT'S REAL WINNER

Gained 15 Pounds Taking Tanlac And Doesn't Feel Like He Ever Had Sick Day

"I certainly picked a real winner when I got Tanlac, for the medicine has built me up fifteen pounds in weight and got me to feeling so well the people on my route are asking me what makes me so cheerful," was the statement made by William Hildebrandt, well known Parcel Post carrier, residing at 1618 South Ewing St., Philadelphia.

"I guess it was being exposed to the weather changes that started me down hill. Anyhow, several months before I got Tanlac I saw my sturdy health had slipped away from me. My appetite was so poor I was hardly eating a fourth of my regular amount of food, and even this upset my stomach. This indigestion seemed to weaken my whole system, and I was quite 'wobbly' at times from weakness. I couldn't get any sound sleep at night, and I often wondered how I ever would be able to put in the day. My back hurt so bad I could hardly turn over in bed or get up in the morning, and I felt so miserable all the time that exhaustion would hardly describe my condition.

"But I don't feel now like I ever had a sick day in my life. I could feel Tanlac toning me up from head to foot after I had taken only one bottle, and four bottles has simply made a new man of me. My muscles and nerves seem as strong as steel, and my breakfast, dinner and supper are big, hearty meals, and I enjoy every mouthful without a bit of suffering afterward. My work isn't a bit of trouble to me, and my friends along the route can't talk to me long without hearing something about Tanlac."

"Tanalac is sold in Lima by Hunter's Drug Store, and by leading Druggists.

Hi Stubbins, Sez!

(Copyright by H. C. Curtis)
Doc. Morris claims he is no judge of hog, but he can spot a blind pig three blocks away. You can always see a good value in the furniture you purchase from the Hoover-Bond Co.

SWEENEY ELECTRIC STORE

Electric construction and maintenance. Also light fixtures and appliances. 32 years in the business. 110 E. Market. — Near the Square

HUGHES

Diamonds Watches Jewelry

HUGHES

135 N. Main
Estab. 1890

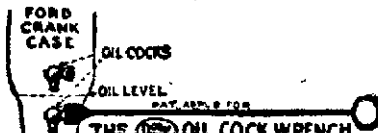

THE LIMA STORAGE BATTERY CO.

220 W. Elm, Corner West
WILLARD SERVICE STATION
Main 4731

ENGRAVERS AND ARTISTS

DRAWINGS & ILLUSTRATIONS FOR ALL PURPOSES
HALF TONS • ZINC ETCHINGS • ELECTROTYPES

The LIMA PHOTOENGRAVING CO.
1114 W. NORTH ST. LIMA, OHIO PHONE M. 3432
THE HOUSE OF CO-OPERATION

THE OIL COCK WRENCH

Ebling Auto Supply Co.

213 W. High Phone Main 2031

The handiest tool about a Ford

25c

The Investor's Opportunity

YOU may never again have the same opportunity to buy sound securities at such low prices as those of today.

Consult our Investment Department for information and safe guidance.

THE AMERICAN BANK
CORNER HIGH & MAIN STREETS

"PLOT'S THE THING" IT'S ALL IMPORTANT IN MOVIES

PLOT—that is one of the things that most of the movie directors the country are looking for now. It's easy enough for them to develop details to get perfect acting, to have the most delightful scenes, and the like, but it is more difficult to get a new plot.

Then after you do land an idea that is different from anything ever before, they usually slash it to pieces, stretch it beyond human imagination and turn it out entirely different from what it was supposed to have been.

It seems that if one is clever enough, if he'll start with the famous old love triangle as the basis, and evolve a lot of interesting situations and interesting incidents from the triangle, he might be able to stick them all together, call it a movie and sell it.

All the directors seem to want anyway, is a start towards the final climax.

"THE LURE OF YOUTH" IS ENTICING

"THE LURE OF YOUTH," that's the title of it. And if you think it sounds good, we advise you to see the picture. It's showing at the Sigma and will be there until Thursday.

"The Lure of Youth" is a melodrama with a new kind of a triangle love story. It is well acted too, with Cleo Madison playing the leading part and Gareth Hughes impersonating the poor young playboy.

Gareth Hughes, who will remember, was first seen in "A Chorus Girl's Romance," the photoplay adapted from J. Scott Fitzgerald's story, "Head and Shoulders." Viola Hines was starred in the picture while Hughes took the part of an exceptionally brilliant young college chap who marries the chorus girl. His acting in that picture received considerable favorable comment.

Likewise his acting in "The Lure of Youth" is worthy of considerable favorable comment. He furnishes Cleo Madison with a most wonderful basis for the acting she does in this picture.

Peculiar thing about "The Lure of Youth" and it's a triangle feature—there is no villain, that is, no out-and-out villain in the entire picture. The nearest thing to such a character in the play is Morton Mortimer, who loves the fair actress heroine, but who is jealous of the young playboy for whom she has taken a sisterly fancy. However, it ends well.

Picture is worth seeing.

"THE SPENDERS" OPENS AT THE LYRIC

THE LYRIC opened with "The Spenders" Sunday. An interesting photoplay dealing largely with financial affairs and a young chap who tries to solve them.

"The Spenders" is an interesting picture for anyone who likes such things, but the plot is age old. Like most of the movies today. There is but one twist to it that might be called new. It brings in an old uncle whose brain work averts financial ruin for the family and helps to get the young hero of the picture a most desirable young lady for his wife.

This picture has a villain and he is a mean one. First he tries to smash the young hero financially and almost succeeds. Then he tries to frame him in a party that is not at all what most people would call respectable.

But, ho, hum, as usual, it turns out with "the happily ever after" attitude, and the romantic can go away feeling perfectly satisfied.

SCREEN GOSSIP:

May Alden, who has the part of the mother in Rupert Hughes' photoplay "The Old Nest," has been cast for an important role in another Goldwyn picture, "The Man With Two Mothers," by Alice Duer Miller.

The Italian film, "Theodora," which will soon be seen in this country, was made by Ambrosio and his staff, who also produced "Cabiria" and "Quo Vadis."

Irvin Cobb wrote all the titles for "Pardon My French," the latest Messmore Kendall production, starring Vivian Martin. This is the first direct screen work Mr. Cobb has done.

The Man from Lost River, which Goldwyn is now filming, is Katharine Newlin Burt's first original photoplay. Picturization have been made of her two novels, "The Branding Iron" and "Snowblind."

Rupert Hughes has written his own continuity for another of his pictures, "From the Ground Up," in which Tom Moore is starring. It is now in production at the Goldwyn studios.

Phoebe Hunt surprised the gateman at the Goldwyn studios her first day at work by appearing at 6:30 in the morning. Complicated makeup was required or her part in "The Grim Comedian," and Miss Hunt had made up her mind to be ready on time.

During the recent flood at Pueblo, Colo., Goldwyn sent two cameramen there to get flood scenes for Henning Berger's drama, "Syndacation," which will soon be put into production at the Calver City studios.

or who specializes in movie detective and policeman roles was a real detective before going into films?

A.—Dowling Jennings is the one who jumped from gum shoes and false whiskers to the movies.

Q.—What pretty screen actress was famous for her horse riding abilities and her vehement assertions that she would never marry is now one of the screen's newest brides?

A.—Kathleen O'Connor is now Mrs. Lynn Reynolds. Kathleen succumbed to Cupid's wiles after two years' courtship. The happy couple met two years ago in the Fox studios. Her husband is a director for Tom Mix.

Q.—Who is the newest movie actress to gain her freedom via the divorce court?

A.—Ethel Broadhurst was given a divorce by a California judge when she told him that her husband, who is a hotel man, deserted her.

Q.—Has Lloyd Hughes a brother in the movies?

A.—Lloyd's younger brother Earle will soon make his screen debut in a Lois Weber picture.

How many Mary Pickfords are there in the movies?

You will be interested in the answer to this question which will appear in this department tomorrow. The Movie Secrets editor will be glad to answer any questions if you will address him in care of this paper, giving your name and address.

(Copyright, 1921)

ICE CREAM SOCIAL AND BAND CONCERT AT LINCOLN PARK TUESDAY EVENING, JULY 26 AUGUST 5. B. A. PROGRESS COMMITTEE.

Society News

EXTENSIVE plans are being made at the present time by the members of the Child Welfare department of the City Federation of Women's Clubs for a garden party to be given at the home of Mrs. Harry L. Gayer in Shawnee, Tuesday afternoon, August 2nd, at 2:30 o'clock.

All women of the city are cordially invited to attend. Cards will be furnished for those desiring to play while others may interest themselves in needlework. A musical program will be presented, after which tea will be served. Mrs. Emmett R. Curtin, Jr., is chairman of the program committee. Anyone desiring to make reservations will please call Mrs. Virgil Knisely, M. 3491.

Proceeds from the party will be devoted to the recreational work, which is being conducted at the Whittier school.

An enjoyable family reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Vanschoyck, Sunday.

Those present included: Mr. and Mrs. James Colver, Mr. and Mrs. John Newland and sons, Elmer Vanschoyck, Cleo and Ivan, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hake and son, Junior, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McElroy and children, Alvin and James, Mr. and Mrs. George Diman and son, Paul, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Roush and son, Donald, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Bible and children, Mr. and Mrs. Rollie Bible and son, Richard, Mr. and Mrs. Dea Deffen-dorf and daughters Alice and Doris, Miss Mary Coolidge, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Everette, all of Lima; Mr. and Mrs. David Bacome, Blingville, O. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vanschoyck and daughter, Hazel, Harrod; Mr. and Mrs. Bert Vanschoyck and daughter, Aila, West Minister; Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Bacome and children, David and Beale, Blingville, O.; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Vanschoyck, Robinson, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Hossy Horn and children, Blingville; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ward, Harrod; Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Vanschoyck, Harrod; Mr. and Mrs. Finton Fitzpatrick, Harrod; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Vanschoyck and children, Inez, Darwin and William, Harrod; Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Alexander and son, Roger, Harrod; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith, Harrod; Mr. and Mrs. George Kerr and children, Lafayette; Miss Ruth and Evelyn Copp, Detroit, Mich.

For the pleasure of Mrs. John Lee (Frances Muehlbauer) New York City, who has been the guest of her father for the past two months, Miss Helen Killoran, Richie-ave, entertained with an attractive gathering. Lanterns and garden flowers were used in the decorations. In an interesting contest, Mrs. James Daley was successful and at a late hour the hostess served a delicious two course luncheon assisted by her sisters, Misses Esther and Irene Killoran.

Those enjoying Miss Killoran's hospitality included Misses Helen Fox, Leona Feitz, Hazel McClellan; Mrs. Frank Callahan, Mrs. James Coffey, Mrs. Walter Augsberger, Mrs. Irene Daley, Mrs. Gladstone Shreve, Mrs. Lawrence Spyker, Mrs. Sina D. Long and the honor guest.

Misses Ruby Metzger and Ruth Maekstraw, Messrs. Henry, Donald and John Fritz motored to Bellefontaine Sunday and were accompanied to this city by Miss Mildred Jackson. Miss Jackson has been visiting in Bellefontaine for several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Callahan, Miss Helene Callahan and Mrs. Andrew Callahan were called to Oil City, Pa., on account of the death of Mr. Callahan's sister, Mrs. John O'Shira. The deceased was also a sister of the late Andrew Callahan.

Judge and Mrs. Kent W. Hughes, Lakewood-ave, motored to Cleo Lake Sunday and were accompanied to this city by their daughter, Miss Helen Hughes, who has been a guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Mosher at their summer home for the past week.

For the pleasure of their guests, Miss Gertrude Johnstone, Cadillac, Mich., and Miss Leona Dille, Kenton; Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Dille, W. Spring-st, entertained a group of guests with a picnic at Ft. Amanda, Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. George Vail returned to their home in Cleveland Monday after visiting over the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hay and Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Vail.

Mrs. Andrew Myers and Mrs. Bonard Myers returned to their homes in Ft. Wayne, Ind., after visiting over the week-end with Mrs. Samuel Shrider and family, W. Spring-st.

Primrose club will meet Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Dan McSweeney, 1005 Hughes-ave.

Mr. and Mrs. P. T. Mell, former residents of this city, but now of Miami, Fla., are visiting in the city for a short time.

Miss Lenore Dille, Kenton, is the guest of her cousin, Miss Mary Dille, W. Spring-st.

SOCIAL CALENDER

TUESDAY

Coterie club, Mrs. Nelson Shockey, afternoon, 8 p. m.
Gleaners' Class of the First Reformed church, Mrs. John Schaublin, evening.
Daughters of Veterans, regular business session, 8 p. m.
Von Bora circle, Mrs. F. J. Evans, afternoon.
Homemakers' Class of the South Side Church of Christ, regular business session, City Park, afternoon.
Hiawatha Girl Reserves of South high school, Miss Dorothy Preston, 2:30 p. m.
Mrs. Clark Miller entertains at luncheon in compliment to Miss Rae Heffner.
Miss Helen Pence entertains at tea.
Miss Zelma Rossfeld entertains at dinner honoring Miss Ray Heffner.

In compliment to Miss Ray Heffner, fiancée of Russell Greene, the members of the Colonial Sewing club entertained with a charmingly appointed 1 o'clock luncheon at the Elks' Home Monday.

One large table was used and centering this was a huge silver basket filled with blue larkspur. Lighted blue candles in crystal holders, tied with tulle of the same color, cast a soft glow. Place cards were dainty affairs, which carried out the prevailing color scheme of blue and white.

Members of the club include Mrs. J. Robb Melly, Mrs. Merton Seals, Mrs. B. A. Long, Mrs. W. C. Northrup, Mrs. Ben Aitschul, Mrs. Herbert Thomas, Miss Mollie Thomas, Miss Marie Roberts, Mrs. A. W. Tanvin, Mrs. Lester Pratt, Mrs. Mino Keltner, Mrs. Al Metheny, Mrs. George Metheny, Mrs. J. E. Evans, Mrs. Fred Wylie, Mrs. Ellis Jones and Miss Heffner. Mrs. Frank Butters was the only guest.

Mrs. William Schiff (Rose Rosenbloom) New York City, returned to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. Rosenbloom, Elmwood-pl, after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rosenbloom, Columbus. Mrs. Schiff was accompanied to this city by Mrs. Rosenbloom and children, Elaine and Bob.

Mrs. Harry Walters, N. Charles-st, has as her house guest her mother, Mrs. Laura Hick, New York City. Mrs. Hick will remain in this city for several weeks.

Miss Gertrude Johnstone, Cadillac, Mich., is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. H. M. Dille, W. Spring-st.

Mrs. John Lee (Frances Muehlbauer) returned to her home in New York City after visiting her father for several months.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Garretson and daughter, Emily, returned to their home in Wapakoneta after a week's visit with Mr. Garretson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Garretson, S. McDonel-st.

Mr. and Mrs. Loren E. Stamets and Roger Hawisher motored to Minnesota, where they will remain until the first of October.

Mrs. Elmer Hay and Miss Betty Hay, W. Market-st, are visiting in Indianapolis this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Horner, W. Spring-st, visited at Camp Perry Sunday as the guests of Major and Mrs. H. C. Horner.

Craig Kershaw and Patrick Murphy returned to Chicago after visiting over the week-end with Mr. Kershaw's parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Kershaw, N. Charles-st.

Mr. and Mrs. F. P. O'Connor and children and Mrs. William Rens and son, Jacob are at Long Lake, Mich.

Mrs. Bessie McConnell, Boston, is the guest of the Misses Mackenzie, S. Collett-st.

Mrs. Charles Cooper, Misses Mary and Mae Cooper and Miss Helen Gardner returned to their homes in Cincinnati after visiting for several days with Mrs. Lusk M. Butler, W. Spring-st.

Miss Margaret Cooper, Green Bay, Wis, returned to the home of her aunt, Mrs. George Carter, W. Market-st, after visiting for a short time in Paulding, O.

Arguments for and against an increase in telephone rates in Lima will be presented before the public utilities commission at Columbus at 9 a. m. Wednesday.

The Lima Telephone company in June filed a petition with the utilities commission, asking for increases amounting to from 25 cents to $1 per month, depending on the sort of service used.

The hearing was originally set for July 2, but by agreement between the city and D. J. Cable, counsel for the telephone company, the date was advanced to July 27.

The city will be represented at the hearing by Solicitor H. E. Galling and Judge George H. Quail. Judge Quail was employed by the city to assist in conducting the fight on advance in rates.

Solicitor Galling will leave for Columbus Tuesday. The city will seek to show that the phone company is not entitled to a boost in rates, because of decreased costs of labor and material.

Officer Here to Aid FORMER SERVICE MEN

All service men in Lima who are receiving compensation or vocational training or are seeking to obtain either, are requested to attend a meeting in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium Monday night.

John Kane, Toledo, Federal Vocational officer of this district, will be present and present matters of interest to all soldiers, sailor and marines.

He will also be in Lima all day Tuesday to interview service men regarding claims.

RELATIVE OF LIMA MAN IS CALLED IN DEATH

Mrs. Sarah Edgington, 88, died at the home of her son, Frank Edgington, Hamlet, O., Saturday. Death was due to general debility. She is survived by three sons and three daughters. Harry Hill, residing in the Berryman addition, near Lima, is a great grandson.

Mrs. Ross Mullen, N. Collett-st, had as her guests over the week-end, Mrs. Frank Hammett and Mrs. P. J. Huffer, Toledo.

Mrs. Harry E. Chapman, W. High-st, is visiting in Dayton with friends.

Mrs. C. F. Luthin, W. Market-st, has as her house guest, Mrs. Laura Cumbach, Knightsdown, Ind.

Miss Dorothy Daniels returned to her home in Montpelier, Ind., after a short visit at the E. L. Andrews home, W. High-st.

Mr. and Mrs. F. P. O'Connor and children and Mrs. William Rens and son, Jacob are at Long Lake, Mich.

Mrs. Bessie McConnell, Boston, is the guest of the Misses Mackenzie, S. Collett-st.

Mrs. Charles Cooper, Misses Mary and Mae Cooper and Miss Helen Gardner returned to their homes in Cincinnati after visiting for several days with Mrs. Lusk M. Butler, W. Spring-st.

Miss Margaret Cooper, Green Bay, Wis, returned to the home of her aunt, Mrs. George Carter, W. Market-st, after visiting for a short time in Paulding, O.

Arguments for and against an increase in telephone rates in Lima will be presented before the public utilities commission at Columbus at 9 a. m. Wednesday.

The Lima Telephone company in June filed a petition with the utilities commission, asking for increases amounting to from 25 cents to $1 per month, depending on the sort of service used.

The hearing was originally set for July 2, but by agreement between the city and D. J. Cable, counsel for the telephone company, the date was advanced to July 27.

The city will be represented at the hearing by Solicitor H. E. Galling and Judge George H. Quail. Judge Quail was employed by the city to assist in conducting the fight on advance in rates.

Solicitor Galling will leave for Columbus Tuesday. The city will seek to show that the phone company is not entitled to a boost in rates, because of decreased costs of labor and material.

Officer Here to Aid FORMER SERVICE MEN

All service men in Lima who are receiving compensation or vocational training or are seeking to obtain either, are requested to attend a meeting in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium Monday night.

John Kane, Toledo, Federal Vocational officer of this district, will be present and present matters of interest to all soldiers, sailor and marines.

He will also be in Lima all day Tuesday to interview service men regarding claims.

RELATIVE OF LIMA MAN IS CALLED IN DEATH

Mrs. Sarah Edgington, 88, died at the home of her son, Frank Edgington, Hamlet, O., Saturday. Death was due to general debility. She is survived by three sons and three daughters. Harry Hill, residing in the Berryman addition, near Lima, is a great grandson.

Puneral services were held Monday afternoon at the son's home in Hamlet. Interment was made in the Methodist church cemetery at Holland.

HAS BAD TEMPER

In Anger He Loses Friendship of a Girl.

Dear Miss Smart:

I AM a young man and have been deeply in love with a young girl for some time. One evening I became very angry at her. I see now that I was wrong. She resented my angry attitude and said she would never speak to me again. Now I want to apologize. I have called her, written her and done everything, but she will not be reasonable. Is there any way I could make her listen to my apology and forgive me for the things I said.

JOHN

YOU must learn to control your temper, John. You can lose everything else, but keep your temper, if you wish to avoid trouble and regret. Whether or not this young girl will accept your apology and forgive you will depend much upon the nature of the things you said to her while you were angry. You must remember that during an outburst of temper a person usually says unkind and harsh things, which they would never think of saying under ordinary conditions. Perhaps you unconsciously and unknowingly suggested false things, detrimental to the girl's character, or said other things, which she no doubt believes no man worthy of her respect and admiration would say. Remember, you lost her friendship in a moment or so. She has now undoubtedly proven to you that you can't regain it in so short a time.

If you sincerely regret your unkind words and determine to refrain from ever uttering words which are likely to cause the loss of a dear friendship, do not feel discouraged. You cannot force the young girl to listen to you. Do not try it. It is possible that you have offended her so deeply that it will take time for her to give you her respect, friendship and confidence again. Be patient and if she really cares for you, she will be willing to listen to your apology. If you value worthy friendships, let this unfortunate and unpleasant affair be a reminder in the future for you to be master of yourself and control your temper.

Dear Miss Smart:

I am a girl 16 years of age and I have been worried over something. I belong to a Young People's class. There are two boys in the class who would like to go with me. As I am too young to go with them, what shall I do to let them know they can't go with me? I do not want to hurt their feelings.

HOPE

Your popularity is apparently starting young. If there are some girls in your class who live near your home or some older persons, with whom you could go home, simply thank the boys for their kind invitations and tell them that you have made other arrangements. Thus you will be doing the fair thing toward them.

Dear Miss Smart:

(1) Please tell me what is good for blackheads? (2) I have dark brown hair and wish red hair. Please tell me what I can use? (3) I am 15 years of age. Am 5 feet three inches tall. How far below the knees should I wear my dress?

MARGIE

(1) A simple treatment for blackheads is to bathe in warm soapy water every night, using a soft complexion brush. Use the soap as you would a washcloth and rub well into the skin. Rinse the face well first with warm water then with cold, finishing with a nice rub. (2) You might try red ink! Shame on you for wishing to change the color of your hair. Be glad your hair is brown and try to get such foolish ideas out of your head. (3) This question has been answered numerous times. Wear them the length which is most becoming to you.

There are many advantages in letting us supply your complete winter coal needs now. The fine quality coal we have on hand is one great inducement, the low prices we're able to quote you now is another. And having your bins comfortably stocked in advance is still another advantage that you may not fully appreciate until coal becomes harder to secure or more costly in price for cheaper grades.

COAL?
ASK THE CONSUMERS
MAIN 4727

Cuticura Soap —AND OINTMENT—
Clear the Skin
Cuts Out Impurities, Eliminates Blemishes, Redness, Itching, Eruptions, Etc.

SIGMA TODAY
Cleo Madison and Gareth Hughes in "THE LURE OF YOUTH"
Also a "Snooky" Comedy

M-A-J-E-S-T-I-C
TODAY
"In the Heart of a Fool" and Buster Keaton Comedy.

SPECIAL TUESDAY
25c Cup Cakes, 20c
ALSO Lady Fingers, 20c

BAKERY
126 W. Market St.

MOVIE SECRETS ARE REVEALED

Q—How much detail should there be in a photoplay synopsis?

A.—The synopsis is the original story and is chiefly concerned with the story plot. The scenario writer should therefore limit his synopsis to such details as are germane to the development of the plot. Make the plot and your meaning clear and leave the details and their interpretations to the continuity writer and the director. The synopsis deals chiefly with the plot, while the continuity (which most producers prefer to have prepared by their experts) is chiefly detail. Incidents or bits of business which you think might help the story can be safely inserted but be very careful not to crowd your synopsis with too many of them. Remember that your chief function as a scenario writer is the turning out of a strong and unusual plot.

Q—What well known screen act-

How quickly it heals! Yes, that's the point. Almost the moment this gentle ointment touches the skin, itching stops and healing begins. Does not burn or sting even when applied to the most irritated surface. You can get it from your druggist.

Resinol
WENDELL SALTS
Ambition Brand

Start Each Day Right With a Clear Head and a Good Appetite in the Morning

You can't do business right if you start the day wrong. WENDELL SALTS, AMBITION BRAND, is a great stimulant of mistakes of eating or drinking the night before. If you dine "not wisely, but too well," take WENDELL SALTS, AMBITION BRAND, before going to bed.

The morning wage up with your head clear, your stomach feeling fine, your eyes bright with the sparkle of health and energy. Be in condition to enjoy your work and do it well.

WENDELL SALTS, AMBITION BRAND, is pleasant to take, acts quickly, is no pain or discomfort. A large bottle costs but a few cents. Your money back on the first bottle purchased if you are not satisfied. A fine preparation for Indigestion, Headache, Biliousness, Constipation, Stomachic Liver and Uric Acid troubles or no pay on the first bottle purchased.

Help to drive the Uric Acid from your system taking WENDELL SALTS, AMBITION BRAND. Enterprise Drug Store—Ad

LYRIC
NOW PLAYING
"The Spenders"
from the novel by Harry Leon Wilson
Scenically splendid "shots" of the virgin prairies and rock-ribbed hills of the Golden West. A stirring fight between a husky two-fisted young club man and a gang of hired thugs.
ADDED ATTRACTION
HAROLD LLOYD
In His Latest Screen
"BLISS"
—COMING THURSDAY—
EVA NOVAK in her latest "THE SMART SEX"
Remember Her in "Up in Mary's Attic"

FAUROT
PEOPLES POPULAR PRICES
MATTRESSES, 10-20c
MATTRESSES, 10-20-30c
The Faurot Pays the Tax

Jeane Lasky presents Thomas Meighan
in The Easy Road
A Paramount Picture

—Next Thursday—
WM. HART
"O'Malley of the Mounted"

Down Go the Prices

—ON—

White and Sport Shoes

FOR MEN AND WOMEN

MEN—Choice of any White Canvas, Grey or Palm Beach Oxfords in our store—$4.00 to $6.00 values—

$2.50
A Pair

WOMEN AND GIRLS—Choice of Any Sport Oxford or Pump in our store which has sold at $6.50, $7.00 and $7.50—Now,

$3.50
A Pair

White Linen Pumps

Newest Styles—full Louis—Baby Louis—and Military Heels—Every Pair in our store all reduced to one price—$7.00 and $9.00 grades—NOW

$5.00
A Pair

CRAWFORD'S

138 NORTH MAIN STREET

EVIDENCE FIGHT IS ON

Club	Won	Lost	Pct.
Pittsburgh	52	31	.625
New York	48	35	.577
Boston	47	36	.566
Brooklyn	46	37	.555
St. Louis	45	38	.543
Chicago	44	39	.531
Cincinnati	43	40	.520
Philadelphia	42	41	.509
Washington	41	42	.498

Club	Won	Lost	Pct.
Cleveland	40	43	.482
St. Paul	39	44	.471
Indianapolis	38	45	.460
San Francisco	37	46	.448
Philadelphia	36	47	.437
Chicago	35	48	.426
Washington	34	49	.415
St. Louis	33	50	.404
Brooklyn	32	51	.393

Club	Won	Lost	Pct.
St. Paul	31	52	.375
Washington	30	53	.364
San Francisco	29	54	.353
Philadelphia	28	55	.342
Chicago	27	56	.331
St. Louis	26	57	.320
Brooklyn	25	58	.309
Indianapolis	24	59	.298
Cleveland	23	60	.287

Club	Won	Lost	Pct.
St. Paul	22	61	.276
Washington	21	62	.265
San Francisco	20	63	.254
Philadelphia	19	64	.243
Chicago	18	65	.232
St. Louis	17	66	.221
Brooklyn	16	67	.210
Indianapolis	15	68	.199
Cleveland	14	69	.188

Club	Won	Lost	Pct.
St. Paul	13	70	.177
Washington	12	71	.166
San Francisco	11	72	.155
Philadelphia	10	73	.144
Chicago	9	74	.133
St. Louis	8	75	.122
Brooklyn	7	76	.111
Indianapolis	6	77	.100
Cleveland	5	78	.089

Club	Won	Lost	Pct.
St. Paul	4	79	.078
Washington	3	80	.067
San Francisco	2	81	.056
Philadelphia	1	82	.045
Chicago	0	83	.034
St. Louis	0	84	.023
Brooklyn	0	85	.012
Indianapolis	0	86	.001
Cleveland	0	87	.000

Club	Won	Lost	Pct.
St. Paul	0	88	.000
Washington	0	89	.000
San Francisco	0	90	.000
Philadelphia	0	91	.000
Chicago	0	92	.000
St. Louis	0	93	.000
Brooklyn	0	94	.000
Indianapolis	0	95	.000
Cleveland	0	96	.000

Club	Won	Lost	Pct.
St. Paul	0	97	.000
Washington	0	98	.000
San Francisco	0	99	.000
Philadelphia	0	100	.000
Chicago	0	101	.000
St. Louis	0	102	.000
Brooklyn	0	103	.000
Indianapolis	0	104	.000
Cleveland	0	105	.000

Club	Won	Lost	Pct.
St. Paul	0	106	.000
Washington	0	107	.000
San Francisco	0	108	.000
Philadelphia	0	109	.000
Chicago	0	110	.000
St. Louis	0	111	.000
Brooklyn	0	112	.000
Indianapolis	0	113	.000
Cleveland	0	114	.000

Club	Won	Lost	Pct.
St. Paul	0	115	.000
Washington	0	116	.000
San Francisco	0	117	.000
Philadelphia	0	118	.000
Chicago	0	119	.000
St. Louis	0	120	.000
Brooklyn	0	121	.000
Indianapolis	0	122	.000
Cleveland	0	123	.000

Club	Won	Lost	Pct.
St. Paul	0	124	.000
Washington	0	125	.000
San Francisco	0	126	.000
Philadelphia	0	127	.000
Chicago	0	128	.000
St. Louis	0	129	.000
Brooklyn	0	130	.000
Indianapolis	0	131	.000
Cleveland	0	132	.000

Club	Won	Lost	Pct.
St. Paul	0	133	.000
Washington	0	134	.000
San Francisco	0	135	.000
Philadelphia	0	136	.000
Chicago	0	137	.000
St. Louis	0	138	.000
Brooklyn	0	139	.000
Indianapolis	0	140	.000
Cleveland	0	141	.000

Club	Won	Lost	Pct.
St. Paul	0	142	.000
Washington	0	143	.000
San Francisco	0	144	.000
Philadelphia	0	145	.000
Chicago	0	146	.000
St. Louis	0	147	.000
Brooklyn	0	148	.000
Indianapolis	0	149	.000
Cleveland	0	150	.000

Club	Won	Lost	Pct.
St. Paul	0	151	.000
Washington	0	152	.000
San Francisco	0	153	.000
Philadelphia	0	154	.000
Chicago	0	155	.000
St. Louis	0	156	.000
Brooklyn	0	157	.000
Indianapolis	0	158	.000
Cleveland	0	159	.000

Club	Won	Lost	Pct.
St. Paul	0	160	.000
Washington	0	161	.000
San Francisco	0	162	.000
Philadelphia	0	163	.000
Chicago	0	164	.000
St. Louis	0	165	.000
Brooklyn	0	166	.000
Indianapolis	0	167	.000
Cleveland	0	168	.000

Club	Won	Lost	Pct.
St. Paul	0	169	.000
Washington	0	170	.000
San Francisco	0	171	.000
Philadelphia	0	172	.000
Chicago	0	173	.000
St. Louis	0	174	.000
Brooklyn	0	175	.000
Indianapolis	0	176	.000
Cleveland	0	177	.000

Club	Won	Lost	Pct.
St. Paul	0	178	.000
Washington	0	179	.000
San Francisco	0	180	.000
Philadelphia	0	181	.000
Chicago	0	182	.000
St. Louis	0	183	.000
Brooklyn	0	184	.000
Indianapolis	0	185	.000
Cleveland	0	186	.000

Club	Won	Lost	Pct.
St. Paul	0	187	.000
Washington	0	188	.000
San Francisco	0	189	.000
Philadelphia	0	190	.000
Chicago	0	191	.000
St. Louis	0	192	.000
Brooklyn	0	193	.000
Indianapolis	0	194	.000
Cleveland	0	195	.000

Club	Won	Lost	Pct.
St. Paul	0	196	.000
Washington	0	197	.000
San Francisco	0	198	.000
Philadelphia	0	199	.000
Chicago	0	200	.000
St. Louis	0	201	.000
Brooklyn	0	202	.000
Indianapolis	0	203	.000
Cleveland	0	204	.000

Club	Won	Lost	Pct.
St. Paul	0	205	.000
Washington	0	206	.000
San Francisco	0	207	.000
Philadelphia	0	208	.000
Chicago	0	209	.000
St. Louis	0	210	.000
Brooklyn	0	211	.000
Indianapolis	0	212	.000
Cleveland	0	213	.000

Club	Won	Lost	Pct.
St. Paul	0	214	.000
Washington	0	215	.000
San Francisco	0	216	.000
Philadelphia	0	217	.000
Chicago	0	218	.000
St. Louis	0	219	.000
Brooklyn	0	220	.000
Indianapolis	0	221	.000
Cleveland	0	222	.000

Club	Won	Lost	Pct.
St. Paul	0	223	.000
Washington	0	224	.000
San Francisco	0	225	.000
Philadelphia	0	226	.000
Chicago	0	227	.000
St. Louis	0	228	.000
Brooklyn	0	229	.000
Indianapolis	0	230	.000
Cleveland	0	231	.000

Club	Won	Lost	Pct.
St. Paul	0	232	.000
Washington	0	233	.000
San Francisco	0	234	.000
Philadelphia	0	235	.000
Chicago	0	236	.000
St. Louis	0	237	.000
Brooklyn	0	238	.000
Indianapolis	0	239	.000
Cleveland	0	240	.000

State Seeks Admission Of Confessions Made By Black Sox

CHICAGO — The fight over admission as evidence of the grand jury confessions of Eddie Cicotte, Claude Williams and Joe Jackson, former White Sox players, was resumed when the second week of testimony in the baseball trial began today.

Hartley Replegle, former assistant state's attorney, who directed the first grand jury inquiry, was ready for further cross-examination by the defense over his testimony Friday that the confessions were made voluntarily and that the players were made no promises concerning immunity.

Judge Charles A. McDonald, who ordered the investigation; Alfred Austrian, Chicago American League attorney, to whom the players came before going to the grand jury and Harry Brigham, foreman of the jury, were prepared to follow Replegle on the stand.

The evidence over the confessions is being presented with the jury absent.

The original copies of the confessions and the immunity waivers the players are said to have signed are said to have been lost or stolen. If Judge Friend rules for the state, the testimony will be repeated before the jury.

In these confessions, according to state attorneys, Cicotte declared that he was paid $10,000 to throw games. The money was given him in advance—placed under his pillow—he testified. Cicotte named the eight White Sox players who were indicted as parties to the alleged conspiracy. Williams told of a meeting in Cicotte's room in a hotel here, between the players and C. J. Sullivan of Boston and Michael Brown of New York, when the plan to throw games was said to have been discussed.

He said he was given $10,000 by Chick Gandil and gave $5,000 to Jackson. Jackson corroborated Williams' story.

If the confessions are admitted, they can be used as evidence only against the men making them and not against the other players, unless Williams, Jackson or Cicotte testify, which is very improbable. They may testify in the fight over admission of the document, however.

After the confession fight is settled, Billy Matrang, of Philadelphia, is expected to corroborate much of Bill Burns' testimony. Joe Gedeon, former St. Louis player, is expected to finish the state's presentation of evidence. The defense has a large number of witnesses and will probably consume most of the week with its testimony.

Jury Calls Owner Of Fight Film

NEW YORK—Tex Rickard, promoter of the July 2 fight between Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier in Jersey City and F. C. Quinby, motion picture producer, were summoned to appear before the federal grand jury today to testify concerning the alleged transportation of movies of the fight into this state from New Jersey, in violation of federal law. Rickard has declared he knows nothing of the transportation of the pictures, or of plans to show them here. Quinby also has denied any part in their transportation, the admitting plans to exhibit them.

His contention is that the federal law prohibiting interstate transportation of pictures of a prize fight does not apply to the Dempsey-Carpentier bout, as that historic sporting event was a boxing match and not a prize fight.

Several hundred persons, attracted by advertisements and electric signs, atop a theatre announcing first showing of the fight pictures last night, found the box office dark and were unable to gain any information as to when the actual showing would take place.

Failure In Majors, Burns Up Minors

SALT LAKE CITY—Duffy Lewis, who was leased by Washington because of his weak hitting and signed by the Salt Lake Club of the Pacific Coast League yesterday hit safely in his thirtieth consecutive game with the latter club.

Lewis has hit safely in every game since he came to the Bees for an average of .454. Lewis figured in several trades in the American League, going from Boston to New York and New York to Washington. He played in the Pacific Coast League before going to the majors.

Cornell Prepares

PRINCETON, N. J.—The Cornell football team, headed by Coach Manager Romney Remy, and Coach Jack Mackey, arrived last night to prepare with the Princeton team for the international match with the Oxford-Cambridge combination in New York next Thursday. The British athletes are due here today and will train with the Americans.

WILSON TRAINS

CLEVELAND—Johnny Wilson, champion middleweight boxer, will arrive tomorrow to complete his training for his twelve round decision fight with Bryan Downey, of Cleveland, here Thursday night, according to word received today by the promoters. The bout will be held at Dunn Field, the American League ball park.

FRENCH WRITERS STUDY HISTORY TO DETERMINE EVOLUTION OF NUDITY

PARIS.—Ever since the French Senate decided to call upon the government to suppress "immoral" scenes in Paris theatres and to forbid nude women from appearing on the stage, French writers have been busy consulting history as to when nudity first appeared on the stage. They have discovered that women, and men as well, appeared nude on theatre stages as long ago as 2000 years B. C. In ancient Syria during the Venus celebrations women absolutely naked and not even wearing a string of beads, as they do in some places in Paris, would sing songs of praise to the goddess. It was the custom, in these days, with the Syrians, once a show was over, to call upon actors and actresses to disrobe and dance and sing. Objectors to such scenes were either asked politely to leave or were thrown out.

From nudity and morals these same French writers stepped over to the history of marriage and Napoleon the first of his morals. It appears Napoleon was a pure moralist and did not believe in love. "I do more than deny the existence of love," he would say, "I believe it to be detrimental to society and to the individual happiness of man, and I firmly believe it does more harm than good." Evidently his wife, Marie-Louise, was of a different opinion, for she was three married and had at last two illegitimate children—one, Count de Montenuovo, born three months after Napoleon's death.

Win At Home

Club	W	L	Pct.
CINCINNATI	4	1	.800
St. Louis	3	2	.600
Brooklyn	2	3	.400
Philadelphia	1	4	.200
Chicago	0	5	.000

Jackson Is Easy For Wapak Reds

WAPAKONETA — The Wapakoneta Reds won a 9 to 2 session from Jackson Center here Sunday. Distelrath and Garrett, local players, formed the Reds' battery. Roxie, a Pliska pitcher was knocked out of the box and Glick of Jackson Center was hit almost as hard. Lasky, local right fielder, made a home-run, two triples and a double out of four trips to the plate.

Clarence Zaenglein, auditor for the Western Ohio Railroad company, at Lima, well known ball player who has been out of the game for several years, staged a satisfactory come-back at second base.

GRAND JURY STARTS LIQUOR INVESTIGATION

YOUNGSTOWN—A grand session of the Mahoning county grand jury convened here today at the call of prosecutor H. H. Hull to investigate charges of conniving with liquor sellers, made against Safety Director Davis Scott, who has been suspended by Mayor F. J. Warnock pending the result of the investigation. Other officials are said to be implicated.

Mayor Warnock, however, declares that the investigation is a political move to hamper him in his campaign for re-nomination at the primaries August 9. This charge is denied by Gus Doeright, the mayor's opponent for the nomination.

ROBBERS FLEE WHEN TIN BUCKET IS KICKED OVER

CINCINNATI—When Mrs. A. V. Rockwell, secretary of Chester Park, amusement resort, accidentally kicked over a tin bucket in the darkness of her room over offices at the park today, she unknowingly saved the management from being robbed of thousands of dollars, police say.

Yeggmen, preparing to blow open a safe containing the day's receipts in the office, were frightened away by the clatter of the bucket. However, they took a tin box believed to have contained almost $1,000.

And Mrs. Rockwell, having righted the bucket, returned to her slumber unaware of the services she had rendered.

Thomas Milgrove, night watchman, was held a prisoner by three armed men.

Champ To Defend National Honors

William Tilden, international tennis champion who will defend his title soon in this country.

TILDEN WILL RISK TENNIS SINGLE TITLE

NEW YORK—Plans for the forthright tennis singles championship of the United States have been completed and official announcement sent to members by the United States Lawn Tennis Association.

Bill Tilden, spectacular international singles champion, Davis Cup star and holder of the National title, will defend his crown, and the field of entries, with many of the world's best players here for the Davis Cup matches, should be the classiest in the history of the event.

For the first time in its history the national singles will be held at the Germantown Cricket Club, in Philadelphia, and therefore several changes from the arrangement in former years have been made.

The sale of tickets is being handled by Samuel M. Peacock, No. 141 South Fourth St., Philadelphia, Pa. Many Philadelphia clubs have already underwritten large blocks of tickets, so that a good attendance is expected, good for the whole tournament, food for the whole tournament, is $8.25, including war tax. Single day tickets will be sold only at the grounds on day of play. These cost $1.50 up to and including the semi-finals on Friday, September 16, then $2.50, tax included. An innovation this year is the arrangement of boxes along the front of the grandstand. Each box, containing six chairs, costs $110 for the tournament, tax included.

BEST 3 OUT OF 5 TO RULE

The junior and boys' events customarily have been held during the men's singles championships to give the youngsters from all parts of the country a chance to see the best players in action. Holding the championships in September, however, made this arrangement impractical, as many of the boys would be returning to school or college. Consequently these events have been transferred to the Longwood Cricket Club, in Boston, where they will take place the week of August 23. The father-and-son championship will be determined in Boston for the same reason.

The only championships to be played at Philadelphia, therefore, are the men's singles and the veterans' singles. Entries will be received at the office of the United States Lawn Tennis Association, No. 20 Broadway, New York City, as in other years. The fee is $5, and entries close on August 30. Each competitor in the men's championship must submit a statement of his record, in accordance with the qualifications for entry adopted by the National Association.

Julian S. Myrick, president of the U. S. L. T. A., will referee the tournament. Samuel H. Colborn, of the Germantown Cricket Club, is chairman of the

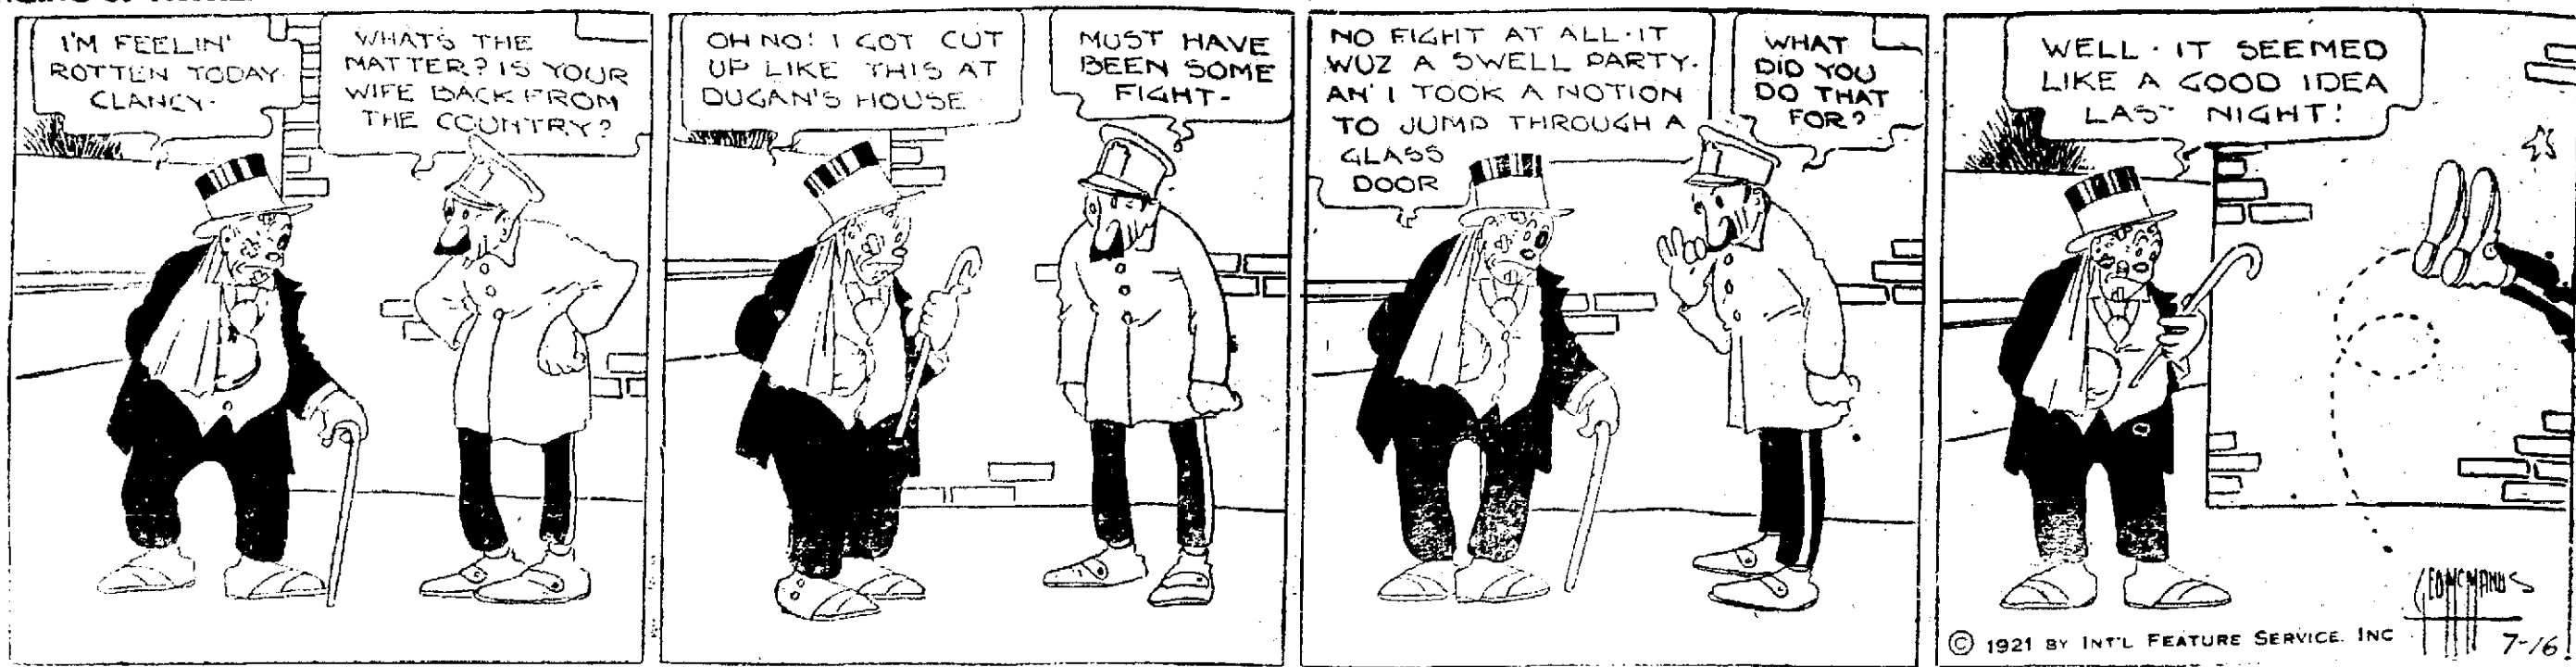

THE BEST SMALL SPACE.
BUY IN AMERICA WITH A PULL IN EVERY WORD AND YOUR AD READ BY THOUSANDS IN DISTRICT.

CLASSIFIED The Lima News SECTION

THESE PAGES READ BY 50,000 PEOPLE IN CITY AND LIMA DISTRICT, GUARANTEEING YOU RESULTS

NO MATTER WHAT LINE OF BUSINESS A SMALL AD ON THESE PAGES BRINGS YOUR BUSINESS SUCCESS.
TELEPHONE MAIN 4921.

BRINGING UP FATHER—

The Lima News

AND TIMES DEMOCRAT
4921—MAIN—4921

MEMBER OF ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for publication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited to this paper. Also the local news published herein.

Classified Advertising Rates.
Per word each insertion 20
Minimum Price, cash 10c
Minimum Price, copy 10c
Copy for classified pages accepted until 11 o'clock a. m. for The Daily Edition, and until 8 o'clock Saturday night for THE SUNDAY EDITION.
The Lima News and Times-Democrat will not be responsible for more than the first incorrect insertion of any advertisement ordered for more than one time.

All orders to discontinue advertisement must be in writing or made at office. The News will not be responsible for telephone cancellations.
The following classification heads are standardized and numbered; no other heads will be used:

Classified Advertising Index.
Agents Wanted 1
Automobiles & Supplies 2
Auto Livery & Garage 3
Business Notices 4
Business Opportunities 5
Bicycles and Motorcycles 6
Board & Rooms 7
Female Help Wanted 8
For Rent—Business Places 9
For Rent—Office Property 10
For Rent—House 11
For Rent—Apts. & Flats 12
For Rent—Farms 13
For Sale—Miscellaneous 14
For Sale—Real Estate 15
For Sale—Furniture 16
For Sale—Household Goods 17
Help Wanted (General) 18
Hotels & Restaurants 19
Insurance 20
Lost & Found 21
Livestock 22
Main Help Wanted 23
Motorcycles & Bicycles 24
Money to Loan 25
Miscellaneous and Tools 26
Medical Instruments 27
Public Auction Sales 28
Poultry & Pet Stock 29
Produce 30
Professional Notices 31
Removals 32
Rooms for Rent 33
Rooms Wanted 34
Repair Service 35
Solutions Wanted 36
Situation Wanted 37
Special Notice 38
Service Announcements 39
Transfer & Storage 40
Wanted to Buy 41
Wanted to Rent—Stores & Offices 42
Wanted—Real Estate 43
Wanted—Farms 44
Wanted to Rent 45

LOST AND FOUND

KEYS STOLEN—Party who stole my keys and loose change at University Lake last Thursday is known. If keys, Masonic penny and English penny are mailed to my home, 108
S. Cole St., no questions will be asked;
otherwise will prosecute.
WILLARD J. GRAHAM

HELP WANTED (General)

We are placing men and women in RESPONSIBLE JOBS every day.
SOME ONE NEEDS YOU
Call and see us

LIMA EMPLOYMENT OFFICE

129 1-2 W. HIGH ST. - MAIN 1902

FEMALE HELP WANTED

WANTED—Experienced girl for general housework. Phone Main 4352

MALE HELP WANTED

WANTED

Bears to sell papers from Branch A.
116 W. Kibby St. 50 cents to $1.00 profit each day.

THE LIMA NEWS AND TIMES-DEMOCRAT

WANTED
10,000 MEN to smoke
B. of R. T. CIGARS

WANTED—Experienced collector, Apply Union Street, 214 S. Main St.

WANTED—Young man will sell an apartment to the owner of department in defiance. Apply 214 S. Main St.
Phone Lake 2691

AGENTS AND SALESMEN

SALESMAN WANTED to sell territory. Guaranteed salary of $100.00 per week for right man. The Richards
Co., 209 Fifth Ave., New York, N. Y.

SITUATIONS WANTED

CLARE LEE MANO
LAUNDRY
216 W. High St.

Have more help and can give you better service.

WANT WORK, SEWER DRAINING,
Plumbing, Cleaning, Repair Work. High
2524 E. R. R. Station.

SITUATIONS WANTED

WANTED—Washings to do. Will call for and deliver. Call Rice 2845.

WASHINGS WANTED—To do at home.
Call Lake 6178.

WASHINGS WANTED—Will call for and deliver. Call Rice 2876.

WANTED—Position as housekeeper by widow with little girl. Phone High 4340.

Young married man with 3 small children must have work will work at anything. Box 10, care of News.

ROOMS FOR RENT

FOR RENT
Nicely furnished rooms for light housekeeping, strictly modern, private entrance, use of phone.
LA VIGNE APT.
329 N. Elizabeth St. State 2143

Two furnished rooms for light housekeeping, first floor, strictly modern.
326 S. Elizabeth, Main 2225.

Furnished light housekeeping rooms,
heat, light and bath privileges. 431 1/2
S. Main from 2 to 4 p. m.

FOR RENT—About August 1st, store room at 225 S. Main St. Call High 6012 or phone Apt. No. 1, 325 1/2 S. Main St.

Two rooms furnished for housekeeping, newly decorated, private entrance.
Modern. 711 W. Spring. Phone State 3117.

FOR RENT—Nicely furnished sleeping and light housekeeping rooms, 323
W. Wayne. Call Rice 2182 or 421 1/2
S. Main between 3:30 p. m. and 5 p. m.

WANTED—Nicely furnished apartment, 2 or 3 rooms, 1st floor business women. Box 8, care of News.

FOR RENT—2 furnished rooms, modern, private entrance. 322 E. Duquesne.
Phone Rice 2847.

Furnished light housekeeping rooms,
heat, light and bath privileges. 431 1/2
S. Main from 2 to 4 p. m.

MISCELLANEOUS FOR SALE

FOR SALE—Very nice baby carriage, modern style, bargain at $15. This carriage is in good condition. Call Lake 1916 or 901 N. Main St.

Try our Velvet Ice Cream. One trial will bring you back. Quality is our aim. Brice-Valley Drug Store, Cor. Brice and Melcar.

FOR SALE—One 1 1/2, 1 1/2, 2 phase 220 volts Wagner motor, one half H. P., 2 phase 220 volts, General Electric motor, call High 2216 or 122 S. Pres-st.

FOR RENT AND FOR SALE CARDS—
At Lima News Office

Men's half coats 65c
Ladies' half coats 60c
Pants suits 75c
Goodbye Wingfoot Deeds 40c
Panther Hoods $25.00

All Work Guaranteed
EISENBERG SHOE REPAIR
S. BREKAM, Successor.
219 S. MAIN.

FOR SALE—1 1/2 H. P. aviation power plant, complete with propeller, tank, coil, etc. Inquire Deane & Sellers, 126
N. Union.

FOR SALE—Furniture made to order for ladies and men. Prices $7.25 to $27.50. 621 S. Main, Rice 2412.

MISCELLANEOUS WANTED

WANTED
Hard coal heater; must be cheap and in good condition. Address
News, Box 7.

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

FOR SALE—Edison phonograph, chifoner, dresser, Victrola, etc. Inquire at Library table 151 W. Spring or High 3480.

HOUSEHOLD GOODS

FOR SALE—Fine brass bed complete, 2 burner kerosene oil stove and other household articles. $85 W. Market.
Rice 2118.

Electric carpet cleaner, like new, very reasonable. 214 S. Main St.

TRANSFER AND STORAGE

MOVING AND LIVERY
Satisfaction Guaranteed
SHERMAN DAVIS
116 South Union Street
Phone Main 4149

Moving Van
Big Covered Truck
Local and Long Distance Hauling
Perry H. Steiman
768 N. Main St.
State 3133

L. W. SAKEMILLER
Biggest motor truck in Lima for long distance moving. Large team van for city. All work guaranteed. 119
W. Water. Rice 6140.

MOVING

Young Bros. Truck Co. big trucks for local and long distance moving. 114 E. Market. Office Phone Rice
2429. Home State 2510.

USE NEWS WANT ADS

TRANSFER AND STORAGE

L. I. MILLER, Auctioneer
I sell anything, anywhere, any time.
Auctioneering exclusively. 415 Nye
St. Main 1895.

STIVELY BROS.
Local and long distance hauling and moving. We have 2 1/2 ton truck for heavy hauling and light truck for light hauling. 1015 St. Johns Ave. Phone High 4456.

NOIROT
LONG DISTANCE MOVING TRUCK
AT THE RIGHT PRICE
All Work Guaranteed

411 HALLER ST.
RICE 3586 STATE 1878

BUSINESS NOTICES

SERVICE WELDING & REPAIR SHOP
For first class welding and repairing. (Lawn mowers sharpened also.)
Service Welding & Repair Shop
Rear 957 W. North St.

SWIMMING LESSONS

MACKIN'S TURKISH BATH
WALTER MACKIN, Instructor
130 EAST NORTH STREET
PHONE STATE 1329

LOOK NOW OPEN FOR BUSINESS

THE NEW UP-TO-DATE STORAGE HOUSE
OUR MOTTO—SERVICE
Centrally Located—Call
THE SERVICE STORAGE
Telephone Lake 2594
Rear 130 South Main Street

WE PAY HIGHEST PRICES FOR ALL KINDS HOUSEHOLD GOODS. MAIN 4354.

LIMA SHEET METAL WORKS

OLD TIME TIN SHOP
Furnace and Spouting
MAIN 5936
123-141 E. WAYNE ST.
RAILING & MADDEN, Props.

FAMILY WASHINGS DONE

SEPARATELY BY THE
HOME METHOD
Dried in the AIR and bleached by the SUN

SUNSHINE LAUNDRY

HIGH 1493

CORDOVA POLYCHROME VELVET

We have just received this goods for fine upholstery. This goods will hold its color and won't wear off. Ideal for furniture coverings.
We also carry a line of fancy striped linens for furniture slips. Made to fit.

C. L. KEYSER
Artistic Upholstering & Finisher
216-17 S. Union Lima, Okla.

We have some nice
POCAHONTAS BLOCK COAL and HARD COAL
Call High 6871
MAY & SON
Successors to Custer May Co.

WE REPAIR ALL MAKES OF FURNACES
Have your work done before the Fall Rush.

HOLLAND FURNACE CO.

Main 5579. 232 N. Union.

ANALYTICAL & COMMERCIAL CHEMIST

J. R. CUTHBERT
Phone Main 6924 Res. Main 1374
Room 43 and 14, Domestic Bldg.
Corner Market and West

LADIES! LADIES! I positively guarantee my great successful "Monthly Compound" safely relieves some of the longest and most obstinate cases in 3 to 5 days. No harm, pain or interference with work. Mail $2.00. Double Strength $3.75. Booklet free. Write to L. N. Southington Remedy Co., Kansas City, Mo.

DR. A. H. HERR THROAT SPECIALIST
New Medical Bldg., Cleveland, Ohio.
Hours by appointment. All Monday, Tuesday forenoon reserved for removing tonsils and adenoids in Lindcliffe (over Feldman's store) 223 N.
Main St.

PHONE MAIN 3533

R. D. Munchen

Examiners, Glasses Fitted With Lenses & Soap
125 N. Main St. Lima, Ohio

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES

FOR SALE
Grocery stock and fixtures doing cash business. No deliveries. Good location.
MUMBAUGH & BLACKBURN
135 1/2 N. Main St. Room 14

AUTOS AND SUPPLIES

YOUR FORD MOTOR OVERHAULED for $16.00, parts extra. Other cars in proportion. A satisfied customer our motto.
WEST SIDE GARAGE
219 N. Cole St. Phone Main 2081

KILGORE

Tire and Vulcanizing Shop
115 E. Spring Street
Phone Rice 2478

RENEWED CARS

COLUMBIA SIX, 1920 touring, only driven 6,000 miles.
OVERLAND TOURING, $5 model, new top, tires and paint, completely overhauled.
OVERLAND ROADSTER, good tires, new paint, good mechanical condition.
These cars are an priced way below their real worth for quick sale.

SERVICE GARAGE

412 S. ELIZABETH ST.
HIGH 6022

NOTICE TO FORD OWNERS

Does your Ford start hard, are your lights dim? If so have your magnets recharged. We guarantee to make your Ford start on quarter turn or no pay.
MAGNETS TESTED FREE METROPOLITAN GARAGE
127-29 E. SPRING ST.

BUICK

"Everlastingly Good"
1917 Buick Roadster, D-41, overhauled, new paint, tires good.
1917 Buick Touring, D-45, overhauled, new paint, tires good.
1918 Buick Touring, E-45, overhauled, winter top.
1929 Buick Roadster, K-44, overhauled, new paint, tires good.
1918 Buick 4 Cylinder Touring,
E-35, overhauled, new paint, tires good.
1918 Knickerbocker Touring, overhauled, new paint.
1918 Cole Touring, new paint, tires
good.
1929 Maxwell Touring, new paint, tires good.
1917 Willys-Knight Coupe, overhauled, new paint, tires good.

THE STURTEVANT-JONES COMPANY

520 W. MARKET ST. MAIN 6896

RE NEW ED CARS

1929 Buick 6 passenger touring.
1926 Cadillac touring.
1928 Stephens Touring.
1917 Studebaker four roadster.
1917 Haynes Touring.
1920 Overland Coupe.

LIMA CADILLAC CO.

FOR SALE—1929 Ford motor starter, shock absorbers, non-splittable rims, good tires, car in fine condition. This car must be sold to satisfy claim.
Price $25.00. Call also Cunningham
Main 1750.

MISCELLANEOUS FOR SALE

GET A NEW ROLL
33c
Allowance for Your Old Roll on Any New U. S. Word Roll
A PLACE TO EXCHANGE YOUR ROLLS
MAUS PIANO CO.

FOR SALE—Slightly used late style
Singer sewing machine A-1 condition; bargain for cash. Call Sunday, 518 E.
Kibby St. Phone Main 3414.

WANTED, AUTOMOBILE

1920 or 21 model Dodge,
Buick or Willys-Knight, touring or sedan. Must be in perfect condition. Call
Main 2054.

CLEVENGER & SON

General Sheet Metal Work
ROOFING SPOUTING
Auto Radiator Repair Work
Let us give you estimates.
320 S. Main St. Rice 2572

FOR SALE USED CARS

1920 Oldsmobile, 5 passenger touring. This car has been used very little and has had excellent care.
The paint and tires are in fine condition and the price is low at $1150.00.
1918 Chummy Overland, Engine has been completely overhauled and tires are good. Price $175.00.
Model 874 Overland touring, 5 passenger, new paint, 2 new tires.
Priced very low at $395.00.
Terms to responsible parties.
C. H. BLACK
512 AND 514 W. HIGH ST.
PHONE MAIN 5678

SALE OR EXCHANGE

5-passenger, 1920 Hudson, sport model, has 5 good Silverton cord tires. Will accept rental property or smaller car. Call Main 6141 or Lake 2740.

FOR SALE—Overland touring car, good running condition, and good tires.
Price $250.00. Inquire 269 N. Union.

If sold this week or with trade for Ford touring car, S. W. Jacobs, Waldo Hotel.

FOR SALE—Ford sedan $500.00. Dodge touring with winter top $400. Both in A-1 condition. Call 132 N. Union or Cunningham's Garage.

FOR SALE

1920 Ford Touring Car, like new
A Bargain.

BAXTER BROTHERS
123 W. Spring St.

POULTRY & PET STOCK

BABY CHICKS
12c
THE LIMA HATCHERIES
310 E. Kibby St.
LAKE 4755

SPECIAL PRICE

BABY CHICKS
for
THIS WEEK
$9.00 and $10.00 per 100
AT HATCHERY ANY TIME
At Lima Market House on Saturday

HOLTZAPFLE HATCHERY

ELIDA, O.

LIVESTOCK & PRODUCE

FOR SALE—2 yearling heifers, 2 this spring heifer calves. Call Cole 8141.

APARTMENTS & FLATS

FOR RENT—Apartment in Romantics, 125 S. Pierce; steam heat; possession
Aug. 1st.

FOR RENT—1 room flat. Inquire Apt.
4, 222 1/2 S. Main.

MISCELLANEOUS FOR RENT

FOR RENT—Double garage, built at hollow tile at 305 E. Kibby St. Call
Main 5555.

REAL ESTATE FOR SALE

READ THIS ONE
FOR SALE—My semi-bungalow, 6 rooms and bath, full basement, new hedge fence, street paved, dandy home, good location, good lot, not for profit but leaving city.
Open for inspection. Deal with owner. Terms, 625 S. Scott St.
Phone High 5013.

SAFETY FIRST INVESTMENTS

Cash or Payment Plan
C. A. BLACK
Phone: Main 2066 or Main 5259

FARMS FOR SALE

HARDWOOD LANDS
in Michigan, well located; 20, 40, 80 acre tracts $15 to $30 per acre.
Small payment down, balance long time. We help you. Send for FREE booklet. SWIGART LAND
CO., W. 1263 National Bank Bldg.,
Chicago.

PRESIDENT JOINS FAMOUS CLUB

Initiated Into Camping Organization in Maryland.

SUCCEED JOHN BURROUGHS

Senior Members Are Edison, Firestone and Ford.

(By RAYMOND CLAPPER)

HAGERSTOWN, Md.—President
Harding Saturday night was initiated into the country's most famous camping club.

Having motored out from Washington he was resting Saturday night in a secluded camp, pitched near Peckinville, a small Maryland village in the Blue Ridge mountains.

The President took the place left vacant by the famous club comprising Thomas A. Edison, Harvey S.
Firestone, Henry Ford and Burroughs.

This time the party had been expanded by the inclusion of the families of the members and Bishop and Mrs. William F. Anderson, of Cincinnati.

The camp also differed from previous locations of the famous quarterette.

There was little of the "roughing it" in the well equipped tent village which had been located on a mountain picnic ground.

Automobiles were used to bring up supplies which contributed every comfort.

LUNCH AWAITING

The Harding party was met at Peckinville. It was declared to be too large for the difficult trail leading to the campgrounds and was abandoned for the lighter hill chambers which Edison and Bishop Anderson brought with him.

The President and his companions "fell in" a hearty lunch which was awaiting them on arrival.

Every activity of the camp during the forenoon was directed toward the reception of the new member of the camp. Edison and the Bishop prepared for their journey. H. S.
Firestone, whose long-rodeoed whickered from their improvised stables, selected two of the animals early in the morning and with his son, cantered into the woods.

Firestone was exploring the business and for the best possible bridge path for the President, who is expected to show his ability as a horseman Sunday.

FORD WIELDS AXE

Henry Ford was one of the early rangers. He rode on his lips. Ford stood under the canopy of light trucks, superintending the unpacking of the supplies which smooth some of the roughness out of the party's camp existence.

Ford also took his turn with the axe which he wielded with vigor for several minutes, collecting a stock of fire wood.

Edison stole away while Ford was so engaged, but came back a little later with the announcement that he had found a mint bed.

"I've got the mint," he announced with a smile. "Who's got the mint?"